SWEDISH PRINCE AND FILM ACTRESS ELOPE TO LONDON

Intend to Marry Despite Attempt of Royal Family to Stop Wedding.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 21.—An envoy of the royal family failed today to convince Prince Sigvard, a grandson of the Swedish King, that he shouldn't marry a blond German movie actress. The actress is Franklin Anna Park. The Prince's father, Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf, objects to the marriage on the ground that she is a commoner, the daughter of Anton Pixell, a Berlin business man.

Count Folke-Bernadotte, himself the husband of an American girl, the former Estelle R. Manville, boarded an airplane back to Sweden. He spent a good deal of time trying to find the Prince and his fiancee, only to discover that the Prince had a very head-strong mind of his own.

The Prince and actress, after dodging parental envoys, diplomats, and interviewers several days, quietly went to lunch in a West End restaurant.

The Prince said he intended to marry in London if regulations could be complied with.

DIES IN SNOWBOUND AUTO WHILE DRIFTS DELAY AID

New York Man Collapses While Trying to Start Car; Ambulance Blocked.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Nicholas Sparks, 35 years old, was driving home from work in a newspaper office early yesterday when his automobile stuck fast in a snowdrift on Long Island. He collapsed while trying to get it started. John Hutchinson, following in his own car, went for aid and picked up Policeman Edward T. McLaughlin. Then his car got stuck. McLaughlin walked two miles through the snow to an ambulance.

In Macy Immaculate Hospital, in Jamaica, Dr. Louis Stone jumped into an ambulance. The ambulance picked up McLaughlin on the way—and soon got stuck in the snow.

Doctor and policeman fought their way to a lunch-wagon and telephoned police headquarters, which sent out an emergency truck. This vehicle got to Sparks' car. Sparks was dead. Heading for the Jamaica Morgue, the truck got stuck.

Dr. Stone then needed attention.

A group of women, happening by, helped him suffering man to their home. There he died himself. Dr. Stone treated frost-blistered ears of the policeman, Hutchinson, who in a state of collapse, was revived. When the truck had been excavated from the snow, Hutchinson was sent to Mary Immaculate Hospital, was recalled from retirement to head the Government.

Stavisky fled into hiding when his bank collapsed last Dec. 30 and it was discovered he had issued bonds $40,000,000 in excess of the legal limit. It developed that as early as 1926 he had been arrested for fraud, but never put on trial. There had been 19 continuances of the case and he was still under the charges when he organized the Bayonne bank. Obviously, it was said, he must have had high political connections.

While the case was rapidly growing into a national scandal, secret agents found Stavisky in a villa at Chamonix Jan. 8. The detectives said he shot and killed himself when facing arrest, but Royalist and other newspapers of Paris repeatedly charged that the secret service men had killed him for fear he might name his political higher-ups.

EUROPEAN RULERS GOING TO FUNERAL OF KING ALBERT

Titled and Elected Leaders of Many Nations Gathering for Four-Hour Service Tomorrow.

MANY THOUSANDS MORE VIEW BODY

Black and Silver Hangings in Brussels Cathedral for Last Tribute to Belgian Monarch.

By the Associated Press
BRUSSELS, Feb. 21.—A great assemblage of titled and elected leaders of nations, gathered against possible attempts at violence, was gathering here today for the funeral tomorrow of King Albert.

Prince Humbert of Italy, who married Princess Marie Jose of Belgium, was reported to have arrived secretly. The Kings of Denmark and Bulgaria were expected momentarily; so, too, was President Lebrun of France.

The Prince of Wales, representing King George of Great Britain, flew here from England today with 10 other planes.

Extra precautionary measures taken by the police are ascribed to general unrest throughout Europe. Rumor said today that a demonstration by radicals who favor establishment of a republic may be attempted Friday at the time Prince Leopold is made King Leopold III. Such a demonstration was said to have been planned for last Monday, but it did not materialize. The radicals form a small minority in Belgium, and police anticipate no trouble in handling any demonstration that they may attempt.

More Thousands View Body.

Additional thousands filed slowly this morning past the casket of the King in the Royal Palace. Thousands visited the room yesterday and last night.

Shortly after noon, the chamber was closed to the public. Workmen began draping the interior of the lofty old Cathedral of St. Gudule with black and silver hangings and fixing a huge black velvet canopy above the steps to the choir. It is there that the casket will rest during the funeral.

The bells in churches throughout Belgium sounded a 15-minute funeral toll today. School teachers were ordered to give lectures on the virtues of the King who was killed Saturday in a fall while mountain climbing.

Starting at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning, the funeral will last four hours. Before the religious services, 20,000 war veterans will move by the body in front of the palace. Burial will be in the crypt at suburban Laeken, site of the royal castle.

The Crown Prince will become the King in ceremonies Friday, beginning with the taking of the oath before both houses of parliament.

BRUSSELS, Feb. 21.—An intimate picture of Albert I, King of the Belgians, as a sportsman, friend and devoted father was drawn today by the United States Ambassador, Dave Hennen Morris.

Morris recalled the happy and vigorous life of the King in an interview at the American embassy, the former home of the royal family and birthplace of Crown Prince Leopold.

The King was seen for the last time by Ambassador Morris two weeks before his death while mountain climbing Saturday.

"It was at the annual court ball, Jan. 27," Morris said. "The King appeared to be in the pink of condition. Anyone would have been sure that he was destined to live to a ripe old age. He was a man of erect stature and magnificent bearing."

Morris recalled the domestic life of the monarch. "He had a most happy home life. He and his wife supplemented each other to perfection in every way."

Discussing the high esteem in which the King was held in diplomatic circles generally, Morris said "his mind was most alert."

"At the court ball, he needed no assistance in receiving all of the various diplomatic missions and for each he had a personally intimate remark," said the Ambassador.

Alice V. Morris, daughter of the Ambassador, was among those who danced with Prince Leopold at this ball—his last social function as the King's residence 10 years before he became King. Alice continued, "since then it has been the American embassy. The room contains fine old paintings, Gobelin tapestries and Belgian rugs. A grand marble staircase leads to the spacious apartment which was the royal suite."

BROWN EXPLAINS STAND ON LETTING AIR MAIL CONTRACTS

contracts under his administration. The Wates Act provided that contracts could not be carried out if the various operators tried to get a line which held "equities" belonging to other groups.

Black then read into the record a long list of the names of passenger-carrying companies which were able to meet these requirements but did not receive contracts.

It has previously been shown that the principal author of the Wates Act was William P. MacCracken, former Assistant Secretary of Commerce, whom the Senate last week sentenced to 10 days' imprisonment on a charge of contempt.

About Ocean Mail Deal.

Black questioned Brown about an ocean mail contract which Brown awarded to the Philadelphia Mall Steamship Co., a concern owned jointly by the Pennsylvania and the Baltimore & Ohio railroads.

Black sought a definition of "pioneer rights" from Brown and the reasons for establishing the "equities," and attempted to show that several pioneer concerns received scant consideration.

"But they did agree in a good many instances," Black said. "Very, very few," Brown told him.

Black sought a definition of "pioneer" rights from Brown and the reasons for establishing the "equities," and attempted to show that several pioneer concerns received scant consideration.

"When I supported the original Wates bill," the former Postmaster-General said, "I wanted to have the right to put mail on planes in the case of trains. I wanted the power to give these starving little passenger operators mail pay. I had in mind the establishment of long routes to determine the possibilities of passenger carrying."

Earlier testimony had been that a resolution was pending in the Senate prohibiting the sale of the ship that Senator Reed (Rep.) of Pennsylvania, filibustered against it until Brown could award the contract, and that Brown, after awarding it, telephoned the company's lobbyists at the Capitol to signal Senator Reed that he could end his filibuster. Brown said he could not remember making the call.

Cheap and Undependable.

Black inquired about the Pittsburgh Airways, which operated between Pittsburgh and Washington. Brown called the service "cheap and dependable."

The committee chairman insisted the line was a pioneer, and said the concern which finally got the air mail contract, Transcontinental and Western Air, had never flown the route.

Earlier testimony had been that the 1930 conference of air mail operators developed a controversy over dividing up routes. He said again the disagreement was merely over "pioneer equities" in existing routes.

He agreed the air mail law as finally passed eliminated authority for him to consider "pioneer equities" in awarding route extensions, but said language was substituted to carry out that intent by placing limitations on the bidding.

"We're fair about this," Brown told Black, after the latter had charged the operators had "stolen" to certain routes and could not agree. The language finally put in the law, Brown said, limited awards of extensions to operators who had operated on fixed daily schedules for six months over routes of 250 miles or more and fixed the rates.

Black observed that "the plan could not be carried out if the various operators tried to get a line which held 'equities' belonging to other groups." "Agreement on equities," Brown replied, "didn't mean there was any agreement on a plan for the diversion of contracts."

Brown added that the air transportation operators had tried to establish "pioneer rights" with themselves who had "pioneer rights." "I knew they couldn't," he testified, "and that it would give me an excuse for chucking the whole plan."

SAYS SINCLAIR AND CHRYSLER WERE IN 'REPEAL' STOCK POOL

Broker Bay Testifies Kahn, Loeb & Co. Were Operating It During Senate Inquiry.

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Harry Sinclair, oil magnate, and Walter P. Chrysler, motor manufacturer, were named to Senate investigators today as members of a pool which operated last summer in one of the "repeal" stocks.

H. Mason Day, former associate of Sinclair, told the committee about the pool, in which his brokerage firm, Redmond & Co., also had a part.

The pool was organized, he said, by Kuhn, Loeb & Co. Testimony disclosed it was in operation while New York banking house was under investigation by the stock market committee of the Senate.

The pool bought 65,000 shares of Libby, Owen, Ford Glass Co. stock, one of the "repeal" issues, at 26 1/2 and obtained options on 100,000 additional shares at prices ranging from 27 1/2 to 30 1/2.

Accident Occurs When Driver Tried to Avoid Collision Near Lake Charles, La.

LAKE CHARLES, La., Feb. 21.—Twenty-one children were injured, three severely, when a school bus overturned near the Oberlin school today. About 40 persons were in the bus. The driver suffered a broken arm, and his wife, riding with him, was injured. The bus was wrecked when the driver tried to avoid collision with a farm wagon.

LAKE CHARLES, La., Feb. 21.—Twenty-one children were injured near here to day when a consolidated school bus overturned in a ditch after being sideswiped by a truck attempting to pass it. Only one of the children, Geraldine Helton, 8 years old, was seriously hurt.

Three years earlier, however, a new State Constitution had been adopted which contained the provision that no act could be amended, re-enacted or revived by reference to the title thereof, and that such an amendatory act should set forth at length the act or part amended "as if it were an original act or provision."

The act of 1868 did not set forth in full the parts of the act of March 2, 1857, which it undertook to amend nor the act of March 3, 1857, which it undertook to repeal.

LACLEDE GAS CO. FRANCHISE DIED IN 1917, SAYS HAY

Counselor Tells Aldermen That City Can Acquire Plant by Condemnation if It Wishes.

City Counselor Hay is of the opinion that the franchise of the Laclede Gas Light Co. expired in 1917 and that the Board of Aldermen should ask the Attorney General or Circuit Attorney to institute quo warranto proceedings to test the company's right to operate in the City of St. Louis.

This opinion, joined in by Associate City Counselor Forrest F. Ferris Jr., was given to the Natural Gas Committee of the Board of Aldermen today in response to an inquiry by that committee.

The investigation, ordered by the Board two years ago, was conducted by Chapman Murphy (Dem.), Texan, with the assistance of Dr. W. M. W. Spawls who recently became a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The partial report shows that relation of holding companies in power and gas affecting control, while other reports are to be made on oil and gasoline pipe lines, and communications.

CWA TO LAY OFF 5500 THIS WEEK IN CITY AND COUNTY

Force in St. Louis to Be Cut to 21,000 and in Suburban District From 8300 to 5000.

750 WOMEN TO BE KEPT ON PAYROLL

Other Reductions of 2600 Weekly to Be Made Regularly Until Program Is Abandoned.

About 5500 CWA workers in the city and county are to be dismissed after this week, and from then until May, when the program is to be abandoned, reductions of about 2600 in working forces will be made each week.

Instructions to reduce forces in that fashion were received by local CWA authorities last night from State Administrator Wallace Crossley. He fixed new quotas of 21,000 workers for St. Louis and 5000 for the county.

Last week there were 22,283 CWA workers in St. Louis on municipal jobs and nearly 1000 women employed on Civil Works Service jobs, now consolidated with the CWA. In the county there were 3800 CWA workers. Crossley's instructions for St. Louis included the provision that at least 750 of the workers retained a national point of concentration.

Weisbunner will be chief executive officer of the association.

With the reduction of forces comes the necessity of abandoning some of the work contemplated, and the St. Louis CWA committee, headed by Charles H. Morris, planned to meet today to discuss which items in the program can be eliminated most readily.

In revising the program, it was found not practicable to eliminate workers this week on the basis of their need for employment, but rather on the relative necessity of completing the various jobs on which work has begun. About two-thirds of the CWA workers were selected from the rolls of relief agencies, the others from those of the unemployed who had not to date been required to seek for relief. Beginning next week, preference will be given to those formerly on relief rolls.

Details of Testimony.

Miss Utley, a maid at the Schnell Hotel, 1106 South Fourth street, died at City Hospital yesterday. She had told police she suffered her injuries, which included a fractured jaw, when she fell on the curb at Twenty-second street and Wolf road. We met a car and a man in it gave Tribble a package.

Police testified, however, that Duran admitted he struck her with his fist and knocked her against the wall during a quarrel in a hotel room. Other employees of the hotel said Miss Utley, when found in the room, was holding her hand and said, "It's Bill." The employees testified that when they called Duran back to the hotel to aid in taking the maid to a hospital, he said, "I'll break anybody's neck that interferes."

year-old chemist at Millspaugh College, Jackson, who told of an analysis made of Dr. Kennedy's stomach contents at the request of two of the attending physicians, Dr. W. F. Hand and Dr. Gordin.

"Did you find any trace of mercury poisoning or any other metallic poisonings?" asked Attorney Ireland.

"I did not," said Dr. Sullivan emphatically.

"There had been a trace of mercury or metallic poisoning, what would you have found?" "I would say I would. I've found it in other cases I have had."

Dr. Sullivan said he was not told the name of the patient at the time he made the tests and that when he expressed reluctance about making them he had been assured by Dr. Hand and Dr. Gordon he "would not get mixed up in a court case." He said two tests were made as Dr. Kennedy was dying one on Wednesday night, Aug. 2, and another the following day and "neither test disclosed mercury poisoning."

"Were you asked to analyze the stomach organs after Kennedy died and his body was exhumed?" asked Ireland. "No, sir. I was not," said Dr. Sullivan.

On cross-examination he praised the reputation of State Chemist W. F. Hand of State College, who testified last week that a post mortem analysis disclosed "a trace of mercury" in the stomach organs. The State chemist and the attending physician are both named Dr. W. F. Hand.

On cross-examination, special Prosecutor Fred Whitty asked Sullivan if he "expected to find mercury poisoning" when he made his tests. "No, I didn't," said Sullivan, asserting he "based this doubt on the history of the case given to me by Dr. Hand."

He said the lapse of time between the date Kennedy first became ill and the date of his tests "made it very difficult to find mercury."

The defense then recalled the stand Dr. Gordin, who repeated the

OF WOMAN, AND HIS ALLEGED VICTIM

MISS DAISY UTLEY

WALTER A. (BUCK) HENRICHSEN, one-time beer truck chauffeur and bodyguard for Roger Touhy, testified yesterday in the kidnapping trial of Touhy and two others that he helped collect the $70,000 ransom that freed John (Jake the Barber) Factor, international speculator, from his kidnappers.

Touhy Bodyguard, Who Told Little at First Trial, a Surprise Witness for the State.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—Walter A.

Henrichsen, one-time beer truck chauffeur and bodyguard

for Roger Touhy, testified yesterday in the kidnapping trial of Touhy and two others that he helped collect the $70,000 ransom that freed

John (Jake the Barber) Factor, international speculator,

from his kidnappers.

His surprise testimony was hardly less sensational than the previous statements of Isaac Costner, who directly charged Touhy and his two fellow defendants, Albert Katoe and Gustav Schaefer, with the abduction.

The prosecution said today that it had given the jury a complete pictorial of Factor's abduction last July 1.

Henrichsen, who drove a beer truck for the Touhy gang before he received the job of guarding

Touhy's two children, testified that he collected the ransom money

along with the late Jim (Troubles)

Tribbles, a Touhy man, was killed in what police called a sorite by the gang against a Chicago union they were trying to con-troil.

Why Witness Talked.

Henrichsen said he and Tribble were to receive the money in a house in suburban Glenview, which has been identified as the first place

Factor was held.

He decided to make the adminis-stration, he said, after being confronted with Costner, admitted member of the kidnapping band who turned State's evidence after his return here from Baltimore.

"Costner met me in the State's Attorney's office Sunday night," the witness declared. "He said to me, 'You collected the money?' and I replied, 'Yes.'"

On direct examination, Henrichsen was led by Prosecutor Wilbert F. Crowley through a detailed account of his activities on the day of Factor's release and during the period of his imprisonment.

Details of Testimony.

"Tell us what you did on July 12," the witness was told. "I went to work at Rogers," he said. "At noon I saw St. Louis (Willie Sharkey, since a suicide) and Tribble came over and I got in a car with Tribble. We drove out to Twenty-second street and Wolf road. We met a car and a man in it gave Tribble a package."

The man who delivered the package was Dr. Herman Soloway, friend of the Factor family.

"Where did you go then?" "I went back to the Glenview House. Tribble went in with the package. I went over to the Touhy home and got Roger."

"Who was there?" "Schaefer, Kator, Sharkey, Porky Dillon, Ice Conners and Basil Banghart. (All Touhy associates.)"

During his testimony in the first trial of the Touhy, Henrichsen had told any knowledge of the kidnapping or assistance in collecting the ransom, although he was not present at the trial.

President Todd expressed appreciation of the result as a vote of confidence in the board.

He declared the board would have to continue careful exercise of economy and said the vote averted a calamity to the schools.

Mayor Dickmann said today: "The people are to be congratulated upon this splendid expression of interest in our school system. I am highly pleased with the result. The only opposition arose from some of our property owners who are concerned, and properly so, over our tax problem. I have every confidence that Superintendent Gerling and those associated with him will effect every possible economy and do all that can be done to help lighten the tax burden."

Some board members feel the proposed bond issue for buildings should be increased from $2,000,- 000 to $5,000,000, to take care of all requirements. Groups of patrons

RFC SEEKS SHARE FROM PROCEEDS OF 4 CLOSED BANKS

Files Suit to Enforce Allowance of $290,267 in Claims on Loans to Depositories.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation seeks to participate in liquidating payments of four closed banks through suits filed in Federal Court yesterday, asking enforcement of allowance of $290,267 in claims based on loans to the depositories before they were closed by directors in January, 1932.

The banks and the claims of the RFC are Hodiamont Bank, $134,182; Hamilton State Bank, $86,617; Overland State Bank, $65,677; Park Savings Trust Co., $3749. The suits are directed against the banks. State Finance Commissioner Mohrhey and his special deputies, who, the petitions say, rejected the claims.

The RFC seeks to participate as a general creditor except with reference to its $749 claim against the Park Savings Trust Co., for which it asks a preferred status and payment in full.

Alleging that this bank had $75,574 outstanding in RFC loans when it was closed, the RFC says the $749 represents collections by the bank on 19 customers' notes held by the RFC as collateral.

The bank did not remit the collections, the petition says, declaring that the RFC turned back the notes as customers declined them for make payments.

The general claims asserted against the other three banks do not necessarily represent the total loans made to the depositories by the RFC. The petitions indicate the banks made some payments on the loans during 1932.

The petitions were filed by George H. Moore and William M. Fitch.

to transfer a partnership property. "This may have been true," the report states, "but in the committee's view the court should have heard evidence. The case was settled later; but seizure and detention of one's property by a court may operate as a species of duress in inducing a settlement."

Excessive Fees Alleged.

Taking up the rules intended to prevent excessive fees, the committee cites four instances in which allowances were "grossly excessive."

Allowances totaling more than 50 per cent of realized assets of $168,000, the committee says, were made in one case which was pending eight years—Rochester against Gonterman. The judges, receivers and attorneys are not named.

In the Liberty Hospital case, allowances totaled $55,000 against realized assets of $237,000, with certificate holders receiving about 28 per cent. The receiver got an allowance of $15,000—$10,000 from Judge Ossing and $3,000 from Judge Landwehr—two sets of receiver's attorneys received a joint allowance of $20,000 and plaintiff's attorneys' fees were $15,000.

In Hyde against American Indemnity Co., the report says, Judge Frey appointed three receivers and got a joint allowance of $19,000 from Judges Ittner and Ossing, who also awarded $19,000 to attorneys for the receiver.

In Hyde against International

PURSE SNATCHER

MRS. MARIE LYNCH,

NOTORIOUS purse thief, who was arrested Monday in a downtown department store after stealing a purse containing $10. She is 37 years old, and has been arrested in at least 40 cities, in several of which she has served jail terms. A warrant issued here charges her with petty larceny.

Life Insurance Co. Judge Pearcey allowed fees totaling $40,000, the report says, adding that in a number of smaller cases substantially all assets were consumed in administrative expenses.

The statistical analysis accompanying the report, comparing fees and costs to assets realized in 85 closed cases, gives a total of $2,434,910 in assets realized, with fees and costs totaling about 20 per cent or $465,119, or which all but $41,974 was in fees for receivers and attorneys.

Against Multiple Appointments.

In discussing Rules 3 and 4, against multiple appointments, the report says in some instances appointments were ascertainable to "acquiescence by the Court in a suggested arrangement between lawyers and sometimes to friendship or political consideration."

The report cites 37 random examples, naming Hartmann in 13 cases, Hall in 7, Hogan in 6, Norton in 6, Frey in 3, and Pearcey and Hoffmeister in one, each.

As to the proposal against the appointment of public officers, the report refers to 17 instances, naming Norton in 5, Hartmann in 4, Hogan in 3, Calhoun in 2, Hall in 2 and Frey in 1.

As to Rules 6 and 7, the committee says there was little evidence of conflicts in appointments but that receivers were appointed by consent in a surprisingly large number of cases.

In discussing the need for periodic reports by receivers and pointing out it is difficult for Judges who change from room to room to keep track of cases, the committee gives examples of cases in which no reports were made for periods up to seven years and in some in which the suit was dismissed without a report ever having been made.

Length of Receiverships.

The statistical analysis places the average duration of temporary receiverships at six months, with one lasting more than four years, and that of permanent receiverships at 13 months, with one lasting more than six years.

The analysis shows that of 803 suits, 330 or about 55 per cent resulted in a receivership appointment. Of the remaining 273 suits, 237 were terminated without an appointment and 36 were still pending without an appointment when the survey was made. The suits filed increased from 49 in 1925 and 33 in 1926 to 128 in 1931 and 142 in 1932.

Results of receiverships to creditors are shown in tables in the analysis. The tables show that in 47 cases in which receivers reported payments to creditors, unsecured creditors received $303,860 on claims totaling $1,182,924 and secured creditors got $44,298 on claims aggregating $121,251.

The report was adopted by the association with approval of the large majority of the members at the meeting after a motion made by John E. Clark to defer its consideration was lost. Copies will be sent to the Circuit Judges.

The Receivership Committee, appointed in December, 1932, is composed of Charles P. Williams, chairman, Daniel Bartlett, H. Chouteau Dyer, John L. Gilmore and Joseph Grand.

The data was gathered from court records by David Y. Campbell, attorney emeritus.

ployed by the Bar Association for that purpose, assisted by senior students at the Washington University Law School and Prof. Israel Treimann of the Law School.

ITINERANT ADMITS BEATING BOSTON GIRL, 14, TO DEATH

Man, 23, Also Questioned About Killing Last Dec. 26 of Young Woman in Bakery.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, Feb. 21.—Francis Vigneau, 23-year-old wanderer, is charged with murder in the first degree, police announcing he confessed killing Victoria David, 14, whose body was found in a parking space Monday. The girl was afraid she would be seen. Later her cries, Vigneau said, caused him to "lose his head" and he said he struck her several times.

Vigneau, who was arrested at the Somerville home of his uncle, was also questioned by police about the killing, Dec. 26, of Ethel Zuckerman, an 18-year-old clerk who was pinned to the floor with a breadknife in a south end bakery.

Vigneau, who said he had served in the Navy and who introduced himself to new acquaintances as "Colorado Bennett" because he had worked in Colorado during his roambings, told the police he had a "date" Sunday night and sat beside a man who introduced him to the David girl. He said when he and the David girl left the theater she ran down the street.

He caught up with her and they walked around. At the parking space they stopped and talked. He said the girl suggested they go into the parking space as she was afraid she would be seen. Later her cries, Vigneau said, caused him to "lose his head" and he said he struck her several times.

CHARLES M. HOWELL LOSES
$6595 INCOME TAX APPEAL

Kansas City Politician Had Deducted Loss on Notes Guaranteed Cattle Dealer.

Charles M. Howell, Kansas City attorney and politician, must pay an additional income tax of $6595 for 1922 under a decision today of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, affirming the Board of Tax Appeals and the Commissioner of Internal Revenue in disallowing a deduction of $23,480 in Howell's return for that year.

The deduction was made by Howell, the Court's opinion said, as his share of a sum under a $200,000 guarantee by stockholders and directors of the People's Trust Co. of Kansas City of notes of Smith & Ricker, cattle dealers. The Court says no part of the cattle fi—'s notes could be deducted as a tax loss, holding a guarantor is bound by his own undertaking.

Howell, a Democrat, was defeated by Bennett Clark in the last primary election for the nomination for United States Senator.

Knapp-Monarch Company Submits Dispute to Regional Labor Board.

The Knapp-Monarch Company of Belleville, manufacturers of electrical supplies, has closed down its plant following a strike among press operators Monday. A. S. Knapp, president, said the action was taken
"to prevent any trouble."

Knapp said the press operators had asked for an increase in wages and recognition of their union. The polishers and tool makers, who have A. F. of L. unions, did not go on strike, he said. The dispute was laid before the St. Louis Regional Labor Board by the company, he added, but at a hearing yesterday the employee representatives did not appear.

The average wage for press operators is 55 cents an hour and they work a 36-hour week. The company has about 450 employees of whom 150 are women.

GOV. PARK SETS MAY 15 FOR STATE BOND ELECTION

Selects Same Date as That Chosen for Vote on Proposed St. Louis Municipal Bond Issues.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 21.—
Gov. Park today set May 15 for a special election in which a proposed state bond issue of $10,000,000 for enlargement and rehabilitation of State eleemosynary and penal institutions will be submitted to voters.

The Governor conferred yesterday with Ben H. Charles of St. Louis, attorney and counselor for the State Board of Fund Commissioners on bond matters, concerning the election call. He will confer with other advisers in the next day or two.

May 15 is the day on which the City of St. Louis will vote on several proposed municipal bond issues.

Formal Proclamation Soon.

The Governor's formal proclamation calling the election will be issued in a few days.

Gov. Park Said His Principal Reason for Setting the Election for the Same Day as the St. Louis Special Bond Election was to Save St. Louis

$70,000 It was estimated would be expended if a separate election were held on the State issue.

What the Bonds Are For.

The state bond issue, if approved by a majority vote, will provide the basis of a program of approximately $12,000,000 in repairs, remodeling, fireproofing, modernizing, and relieving of overcrowding in seven state eleemosynary institutions, five state penal institutions, and will provide for construction of a new state

Conditional on ratification of the bonds, the State will receive a $10,000,000 loan of Public Works Administration funds.

The state bonds will become security for the loan. In addition the State will receive an outright grant of PWA funds, equaling 30 per cent of the cost of labor and materials.
This grant is estimated at about $3,000,000.

The approximate division of the program is $8,000,000 to the eleemosynary institutions and the balance, or about $3,000,000, to the penal institutions.

Eleemosynary Projects.

Plans for a rehabilitation program of $8,011,450 have been prepared by the Board of Managers of State Eleemosynary Institutions, and submitted to Gov. Park and Public Works Administration officials. This program, summarized, follows:

State Hospital No. 1, for insane,
at Fulton, $1,965,000 for reconstruction of old buildings, fireproofing, a separate hospital for criminal insane, a new auditorium, facilities for employees, new power plant, kitchen and dining facilities, and enlargement of existing buildings.

State Hospital No. 2, for insane,
at St. Joseph, $1,145,000, for reconstruction and enlargement of existing buildings, fireproofing, new building for "disturbed and infected" patients, two dormitories for employees, new plumbing, new kitchen and refrigerating equipment, improvement of water plant, and other construction.

State Hospital No. 3, for insane,
at Nevada, $1,091,000, for fireproofing all ward buildings, new buildings for infirm patients, two dormitories for employees, an addition to the auditorium, new dining room for patients, new refrigeration equipment, improvement of water plant, and miscellaneous equipment and construction.

State Hospital No. 4, for insane, at Farmington, $1,810,000, for new building for disturbed and tubercular patients, new hospital and receiving building, kitchen and refrigeration equipment, employee dining hall, seven new cottage dormitories for patients, new plumbing in presenting buildings, new power plant, miscellaneous equipment and construction. The Farmington Hospital differs from the others in use of the cottage dormitory or unit plan of housing patients.

Missouri State School for feeble-minded and epileptic patients, Marshall $756,000, for two cottage dormitories for Negro children (the school does not now receive Negro patients); two additional buildings for children of "low grade" mentality, new power plant, and miscellaneous equipment.

Missouri State Sanitarium, for tubercular patients, Mount Vernon, $755,000, for an infirmary building for bedfast patients, a combined administration, receiving and medical center building, enlargement of existing buildings, new power plant and additional refrigeration, dining kitchen, electric and water equipment.

State Home for Children, Carrollton, $46,000, for an additional cottage for boys and a small administration building.

In addition to these allotments for specific construction and improvements, the Board of Managers estimated the engineering and architectural expense for the entire eleemosynary program would be $453,480.

Overcrowding in Hospitals.

Recent surveys of the four state hospitals for insane at Fulton, St.
Joseph, Nevada and Farmington, show the hospitals are overcrowded by 38 per cent of their capacity.
This is based on a total population of 6897 patients in wards with a normal capacity of 4984 patients.

The proposed construction, according to the board, will increase the normal capacity of these four hospitals to 7330 patients, or 433

more than the present population.

Delayed plans for the improvement of the penal institutions have not been completed, members of the State Penal Board say. The program in general sets aside

$4,000,000 for repairs and rehabilitation of the existing state penitentiary here and construction of a new prison at a place not yet designated. The remaining $1,000,000 will be used for additions to the intermediate reformatory at Algoe near Jefferson City, and improvements at the boys' reformatory at Boonville.
An additional home for girls at Chillicothe, and the industrial home for Negro girls at Tipton.

A warrant charging obtaining money by false pretenses, in connection with alleged sale of "imported" Irish linens, was issued today against Mrs. Thomas McKee, a saleswoman, Springfield, Ill., by Assistant Prosecuting Attorney George

Fitts.

Mrs. McKee was arrested yesterday at the request of the Better

Business Bureau, which investigations and complaints that she had solicited employees of business houses, displaying linens and laces she described as imported. The warrant charges her with misrepresentation in the sale of a table cover for $13 to Miss Elizabeth Hatchett, an employee of the Public Service Co.

Authority for submission of the bond issue was provided in a joint and concurrent resolution passed during the recent special session of the Legislature, at a recommendation of Gov. Park. The Governor originally recommended a bond in issue of $15,000,000 but the Legislature reduced the amount to $10,- 000,000.

FRICK CO. SIGNS PACT
WITH U. M. W. HEADS

Agreement Provides for Checkoff of Union Dues at Captive Coal Mines.

By the Associated Press.
PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 21.—
Thomas Moses, president of the H.
C. Frick Coke Co., yesterday announced an agreement with heads of the United Mine Workers of America, acting as individuals.

The pact, although not a regular union contract, grants the checkoff of union dues—long a source of conflict in Southwestern Pennsylvania's coal fields—insures an "open shop" and affects about 5000 diggers in nine captive mines. The Frick company is a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation.

Philip Murray, international vice-president of the union, who, with John L. Lewis and other union leaders, was elected by a minority of the Frick miners to represent them as collective bargaining agents, said the agreement was "a signal victory."

Ends Long Controversy.

The disagreement over contracts had existed since the captive mine strikes of last summer. At elections supervised by the National Labor Board, some Frick operations elected U. M. W. A. men and at others they did not.

The captive mine owners contended they were not required to contract with the union officials as such but only as individuals. The Labor Board ruled the union men should be designated in their "official capacities" but did not say whether that amounted to union recognition.

The agreement contains the same wage rates as the Appalachian coal code and expires with the termination of the coal code on March 31.
Murray expressed hope a similar contract would be renewed at that time.

40-HOUR WEEK PROVIDED.

"An eight-hour day, the five-day, 40-hour week, shall prevail," the agreement specifies and, in providing for the rights of nonunion workmen, it adds: "It is agreed that nonmembers of the United Mine Workers of America now employed, or new employees, may, by written order, authorize the herein designated representatives of the employees to represent them in negotiations with representatives of the company in all matters arising under this contract."

Mine owners pointed out the union men are permitted to "select their own checkweighmen at their own meetings," and added: "We consider the contract outright recognition of the union. It is signed by officers of the United Mine Workers of America designating their official titles."

The contention that an employer was not bound to deal with "representatives" of his employees unless he knew exactly what employees they represented and that they had authorization was placed before the National Labor Board by the National Association of Manufacturers yesterday. The association raised the point in a brief filed in behalf of the Houle Engineering Corporation of Buffalo, N. Y.

INJUNCTION AGAINST SELLING
DEED OF TRUST DISSOLVED

Writ Enjoined Franklin-American
Co. From Disposal of $15,000 Instrument.

A temporary injunction against the Franklin-American Trust Co., to prevent the sale of a $15,000 deed of trust posted as security on a loan to O. H. Brooks Jr. and Mrs.
May F. Brooks, was dissolved yesterday by Circuit Judge Hamilton, who has had the case under advisement for several months.

Judge Hamilton directed that the note sold at the public sale. The deed of trust is property at 2924 Locust boulevard.

The injunction was granted in March, 1932, by former Circuit
Judge Norton. At that time, Brooks and Mrs. Brooks, who are not related, contend that the note had been extended to December, 1932, and charged that the note itself had been altered to complicate the maturity date. Judge Hamilton found that there had been no alteration and that the amount due is $12,808.87, including interest. The note was given to the American Trust Co., predecessor of the Franklin-American Trust Co., which itself has since been absorbed by the First National Bank.

DIES AT LOCOMOTIVE THROTTLE

Wabash Engineer Dies
as He Is Stricken.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Feb. 21.—Wabash locomotive No. 2422, operating between Centralia and Columbia, drew to a stop before the local roundhouse here Monday night—with a dead man at the throttle.

Henry F. Williams, 52 years old, a former engineer reduced to the rank of fireman by the depression, was the man in control. As the engine stopped L. R. Bickel, regular engineer, who was in the cab, heard a faint cry and turned to Williams' cockpit from his seat dead. Examination showed he had died of cerebral hemorrhage. Had Williams not applied the air brakes before losing consciousness, Bickel said, the locomotive would have crossed the turntable and crashed into several large gasoline storage tanks.

Spanish Auto Plant Bombed.

BARCELONA, Spain, Feb. 21.—
A bomb exploded with terrific force early today at the entrance to the Hispano-Suiza automobile plant causing considerable damage but injuring no one.

BILL FOR CURBING
'LAW RACKETEERS'
IN U.S. BUREAUS

Senator Norris and Congressman Ruffin of Missouri Offer Measure to Limit Attorney's Fees.

TAX REFUND CASES
THE SPECIAL TARGET

Proposal Would Fix $5000 Maximum for Services Unless Tribunal or Official Specify More.

By RAYMOND P. BRANDT, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—To curb the practice of lawyers and their agents who have been getting rich by presenting suits for large claims against the Federal Government, particularly the Bureau of Internal Revenue, Senator Norris, Progressive Republican of Nebraska, and Representative Ruffin (Dem.), Missouri, have introduced in the Senate and the House respectively, a bill to limit legal compensation in such claims to $5000 or 20 per cent of the money recovered, whichever shall be the smaller.

The bill provides that if the claim is completely denied, the legal fee shall not exceed $50. There is a proviso, however, that upon written application to the executive, administrative or judicial tribunal or officer passing on the claim, such tribunal or officer can fix "just and equitable" compensation, regardless of the $5000 and $50 maximum set in the bill.

The bill has been titled "Fraudulent and Excessive Claims Act" and has been referred to the Senate and House judiciary committees. Hearings probably will be held by the House committee. The Senate Committee may incorporate some of its provisions in an omnibus Legal Practices Act or may consider it separately. Senator Norris said today.

"Appalling" Fees Charged.

The spadework on the far-reaching proposal was done by a group of lawyers now in the Government departments who were astonished by the fees charged by attorneys practicing in Washington. Several of this group are former students of Prof. Felix Frankfurter of the Harvard Law School.

The proposal is confined to attorneys or their agents seeking funds from the Government or reductions of claims by the Government and would not affect a great mass of the legal practice before the various Government agencies. Its hits directly at the contingent fee lawyers who have represented clients in tax matters.

What the Bill Provides.

The first section of the bill provides that before an attorney seeking a refund or reduction shall be allowed to represent a client before a Government agency, he must furnish a certified copy of all the contracts with his client. These contracts must stipulate that no fee or compensation of any sort is to be received by the attorney or agent except that provided for in the written contracts.

The second section sets the maximum payments and the procedure for official increase of compensation.

The third section is designed to prevent a crooked attorney from having an accomplice in the Government service to "tip" him to lucrative cases. This section does not apply to an agreement filed with the proper tribunal or officer, for a division of professional services.

The fourth section provides a maximum penalty of one year's imprisonment and $1000 fine for every violation of the act. This section also declares that anyone found guilty of violation shall be permanently disbarred from practice before all Government divisions having jurisdictions over refunds or re-districts.

NO MORE CLASS DISTINCTION IN GERMANY, NAZIS RULE

Association of Noblemen Told They Are Like All the Other People.

BERLIN, Feb. 21.—Social pedigree in Germany means go. Hans Engel, Nazi labor trustee for Berlin and Brandenburg, told the German Association of Noblemen yesterday.

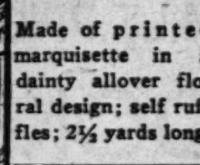

"You are like all the other people of Germany and you must acquire the new community spirit of the new German state," he said, adding: "You cannot any longer segregate yourselves from the rest of the people."

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

Founded by JOSEPH PULITZER
December 12, 1878
Published by The Pulitzer Publishing Company

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

JOSEPH PULITZER.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

A Criticism of Mr. Brisbane.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
FOR a newspaper with a liberal, slightly leftist complexion, it is beyond my comprehension (and evidently many others, judging from the Letters to the People column) how you can countenance the rehash and crude conclusions of such a writer as Arthur Brisbane. Brisbane, so I've read, once read all the volumes of a large encyclopedia, but has evidently achieved that station wherein wealth warps his viewpoint, station deadly to all reporters and newspaper men, as Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen frankly state in Washington Merry-Go-Round.

The man contradicts himself, without apology, so many times it is difficult to imagine him other than a contortionist.
He betrays a lack of comprehension that is astounding. For instance, in a recent Today, he pontifically prophesied that "250,000 Austrian Jews will wish for Dollfuss' success in his fight to prevent seizure of the Government by Socialists" (this figure being near the one-seventh of Vienna's population which he estimates to be Jewish), notwithstanding that everywhere in the world the Jew is the backbone of all the Marxist movements, not excepting Austria and Vienna.
He would have been more correct to say no large percentage of Jews would be left in Austria if the Socialists are defeated, those not slain, fleeing.

In this year of the Roosevelt revolution, he speaks of the "rugged individual" as though he were. In the years of the reign of Hoover, he covered him with praise. His style is nothing but brag about; his conclusions illogical; his "facts" opinion; indeed, I can see only one redeeming point in his column: he makes readers who think realize where they stand, by their contrast to him.

OLIVER HILSON.

A Strange Ruling.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
T HE AT was surely a strange ruling that City Counselor Hay issued in reference to the three St. Louis State Representatives who are holding city jobs.

According to Hay's ruling, any present member of the Board of Aldermen may logically hold a State job; or Hay himself and any of his subordinates in the City Counselor's office, besides being on the city payroll, may also work for Circuit Attorney Miller.

What the present city administration lacks in brains it makes up in nerve.

REPUBLICAN.

1917-1933.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
W E HAD a precarious state of affairs in the world in 1917. Another great war appears imminent. Democracy is struggling for its very existence. It is in danger even in such strongholds as France and Britain.

How these sinister forebodings contrast with the war propaganda which was fed us in 1917! Students in the public schools and colleges, as well as all classes of working people, were assured that this (our last war) was a war for democracy. The enthusiasm for the democratic issue instilled into the public by the militarists was so great as to silence all opposition.

Now what do we see, after several years of grim but sobering depression?
A world in which the end of all liberty is threatened by Fascist dictatorships; where constitutional governments everywhere are tottering.

The autocratic rule that succeeds democratic institutions is an unsatisfactory and only temporary adjustment out of chaos. Government by a dictator represents a backward step in our progress.
Dictatorship can mean only the further down-treading of the masses.

M. RADER.

T it for Tat.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
IN YOUR issue of Feb. 17, I note with interest the questions asked by Arthur M. Hyde. I also notice the questions you ask, especially: "Who, in a word, voted for depression?"

If your brain is not too much befuddled by the New Deal hangover, I will ask you, Who kept us out of war? And you can answer the question yourself.

The Tax-Ridden Automobile.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I AM heartily in accord with E. B.'s suggestions regarding Mayor Dickinson's veto of city auto license fees reduction. Both city and State licenses have always been nothing less than high grade robbery.

It is very apparent that the automobile,
despite its make, style, age or condition, is considered a luxury, although the more progressive-minded persons well know it has long become a necessity, as have electricity and gas. This, however, does not apply to persons operating makes far above their means, upon whose account the small car owners should not suffer.

Wherever there are new taxes or fund raising, the owners are most certain to be the first consider. E. B. forgot to mention a few other types of taxes which might be added to this list, and they are:
oil tax and personal property tax. Most of the fees applicable to the auto do not differ throughout the life of it, even after your auto has become a "physical wreck."

W. HEIDENREICH.

THE FIVE-DAY WEEK.

In approving the newspaper code, President Roosevelt has requested that metropolitan newspapers in cities of 750,000 or more, and having a circulation of 75,000 or more, immediately establish the five-day, 40-hour week in their news departments.

Gen. Hugh Johnson, NRA Administrator, has called a conference for March 5 of all code authorities for the discussion of reopening all the codes and inserting the 32-hour week.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, says: "We have the choice now of the Government supporting the unemployed or shortening the work week and putting them to work." Mr. Green told the House Labor Committee Monday that in December there still were 10,750,000 unemployed. He asserted that "we cannot possibly put these men back to work unless we establish the 30-hour work week," pointing out that, of 234 codes approved by Jan. 29, only 50 provide less than a 40-hour maximum.

The five-day week has already been instituted upon all PWA undertakings and all CWA work. It is only a question of time until it will spread to the whole Federal service, as it is inevitable that it will in due course prevail throughout American industry.

There is no other solution of the grave problem of American unemployment. Partial recovery of the national economy, together with Federal aid, has provided work for approximately one-third of the 15,000,000 people who were unemployed a year ago. It is fair to assume that with continued improvement in conditions, another one-third will be absorbed by the end of the present year, or very soon thereafter.

It is the remaining 5,000,000 that is to be the test of the national wisdom. President Roosevelt said more than a year ago that with the return of reasonable prosperity, we would still have 5,000,000 people unemployed. That is, the resumption of industry would still leave among the unemployed the great host of workers who have been displaced by the machine. They constitute a separate problem, quite apart from the major problem which has engrossed the attention of the country for the past 12 months.

The country would, in our judgment, be wise to come to grips with this situation before it becomes even worse than it is. We are encouraged to see that this is the disposition of the Roosevelt administration. That it has the support of Congress in foreseeing such a necessity is beyond question. The ghost of unemployment has haunted the halls of the national Capitol for a decade. There is not a leader in Congress who is not aware that, long before the depression set in, the displacement of workmen by human inventions was going on at a greatly accelerated pace. Strangely enough, few of us have realized that this is one of the causes of agricultural over-production and the collapse of farm prices.

It remained for the New Deal to do something about a situation which had at last made the utility issue a factor in presidential elections. The Johnson bill, which has passed the Senate and is now in the House, would debar the utilities from Federal courts in valuation and rate disputes until they have exhausted the state courts. It would deprive them of a choice which has too often enabled them to take the easier way. Senator Johnson of California, one of the progressive Republicans who supported Mr. Roosevelt in 1932, is the author of the bill.

Gov. Landon of Kansas, whose State has engaged for years in a struggle with the Doherty interests, says the Johnson bill "is the most constructive piece of legislation in the last decade." In our judgment, the utilities would be wise to support it. Regulation is their one hope of escape from public ownership.

This power of the Federal Court must be abrogated.

The Indiana Legislature some years ago memorialized Congress, asking that the utilities be forbidden to resort to the Federal courts until they had exhausted the state courts. The memorial insisted that the state courts were competent to judge all controversies between the utilities and regulatory bodies, as they could be trusted to preserve to the utilities the constitutional guarantees of due process.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—A PLAN by which the banks will be asked to make contributions for the renovation and repair of houses has been worked out by Mariner S. Eccles, the new Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. The Eccles plan is to induce private banks to lend between $500 to $1,000 to individuals in whom they have confidence for repair of their homes, with an additional category of loans up to $10,000 for the construction of homes.

The United States would guarantee the loans up to sizeable figures—perhaps running into several billion dollars.

Cause of Weir.

THE National Labor Board is secretly preparing for a war which should test once and for all the labor provisions of the National Industrial Recovery Act.

Section 7a of the act specifically guarantees labor for the first time in history—the legal right to organize for collective bargaining. But steel workers still oppose it, are determined to test the power of the Labor Board in the courts.

The impending battle gives every indication of being one of the most momentous in industrial history.

Spearhead of the steel defiance is the Weirton Steel Corporation, with huge plants in Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia. Head of the concern is E. T. Weir, square-jawed, hard-headed, paternalistic-minded operator.

Weir's fight with the Labor Board is of months standing. It is also a typical steel baron's battle.

Like his brother steel moguls, Weir had always opposed any attempt to unionize his workers. But when the NRA steel code, which he signed, went into effect and his employees started to organize independently, he promptly set in motion a company union to thwart them.

When they struck in protest, the Labor Board intervened with a compromise proposal that a Government-supervised election be held to determine whether the company union really represented them. To this Weir agreed. But when the day came for the election, Weir defiantly refused to permit Government representatives in his plants. He conducted his own election, announced that 85 per cent of the workers favored the company union.

The workers charged fraud, violence, intimidation. A delegation told Roosevelt afterward that the real victor was "Mae West," whose name had been derisively written on the ballots by those who did vote.

Maneuvers.

HARRY PAXER was once eased out of the State department by Cornell Hull, but he still seems to have some influence in that organization.

It looks as if he were going to put across his old friend, Dr. Frank Carrigan, who once handled his accident cases in Cleveland, as the new Minister to Salvador. . . . Madame Secretary Perkins and Emma Goldman, one-time deported anarchist, are old friends, still call each other by their first names. They got to know each other in the old Greenwich Village days...

Speaking of Greenwich Village, a large part of its one-time population now is running the CWA. . . . Senator Black and his mail contract committee have dug up some sensational evidence regarding the International Mercantile Marine and are saying it as one of the big culprits of the investigation.

Featured on Postmaster Jim Farley's wall is a photograph of his six-year-old "Jim Junior" trying to put a letter in a mail box. . . . Jim Landis, crusading member of the Federal Trade Commission, frequently works all night at his desk. He has a couch in his office on which he takes cat-naps from time to time. . . . The most popular luncheon dish on the menu of the Senate restaurant is bean soup. It is prepared in a 10-gallon cauldron.

muckrakers and the "highly perfumed conjecture of some pundits who never did anything in his life but read some books and write others."

Attack on Washington Post.
A conspicuous recent instance, he declared, "is by a writer who dared not sign his name to his strictures and advanced as a reason the astonishing statement that these men (officials of whom he wrote) are his friends and that if they knew that it was he who is assailing their reputations, he might lose their regard . . . ."

"This writer in whose veins there must flow something more than a trace of rodent blood, exalts some who are weak and throws mud at some who are strong for no other apparent reason than to provide saleable copy. All this published by a dying newspaper, recently purchased at auction by an old dog—a cold-blooded reactionary—who was one of the principal guides along the road to disaster of 1929. And the object of its purchase must have been nothing less than what it is doing now: to attack men for the purpose of destroying measures."

(The reference was to the Washington Post, currently carrying an anonymous serial on the chief personalities of the Roosevelt administration. The paper is owned by Eugene Meyer, Governor of the Federal Reserve Board under the Hoover administration.)

Achievement of NRA.

"The Roosevelt administration," Johnson said, "has attempted economic planning for concert of industrial and labor action under governmental sanction and control to better the condition of our people. There is no use in planning without an organization for action. On Sept. 1, 1933, there was no such organization. In the intervening six months, practically the whole economic structure of the United States, by its own voluntary action, has put itself through codes of fair competition into a loose and hastily formed organization. We no longer have to appeal to many millions of employers. We now have industrial representation through about 500 units, 300 of which (comprising by far the bulk of employment) are organized, at least to the extent of being able to come to Washington at the request of Government to consult together for the general good."

"Before NRA, our cluster of private institutions was a leaders mob which by March 1933 had degenerated into economic anarchy. To bring organization and order out of this chaos required haste. You could not do it by sitting in a study turning the leaves of a book for precedents and guides. There were neither precedents nor guides. You had to act and you had to fight. You had to make a major organizational effort reaching every part of this country within a few weeks and you had to do it with a governmental organization which, on June 16, 1933, did not exist and has now grown to more than 1500 people."

Mistakes and Blunders.

"Under these conditions, of course, there are things in some codes that ought not to be there and things are out of some codes that ought to be there. Some of the codes do not agree with other codes and there are many discrepancies, mistakes and outright blunders to be corrected."

"NRA has a triple duty. It is to see that industry does not hornswoggle labor; that labor does not bullyrag industry; that neither, separately, nor both, in concert, shall exploit the consuming public. Thus we sit always in the white heat of controversy. Industry accuses labor, labor accuses industry and the consumers accuse both. All these make the welkin ring with their complaints against everybody but themselves."

"That was what was foreseen and intended. If they all confined their controversy to the forum of NRA we could wash our linen at home. But this is a day of press agency. They go to the newspapers (to whom a kilkenny cat fight is always news) and the result is a constant stream of the publicity of conflict. That is all right. It keeps officials on their toes even if it tends to develop, in men who have nearly all come here at sacrifice and are devotedly seeking justice, the hide of an elephant."

Says Criticisms Are One-Sided.

"All we ask of the public is that it correctly appraise the source and private interest of this sort of publicity and discount it to the precise extent that the author may disclose his own special interest. These stories are one-sided. They give the adversary interest no chance to state its case. But criticism such as we now seek in this great public hearing of complaints is an entirely different matter. We invite it. We could not succeed without it. We ask no quarter and we will encourage study all that is said."

"Such a hearing is without precedent. It gives every complainant his day in court. It promises explanation if there is any explanation to give, and immediate relief where relief is possible. Any fair-minded critic presenting facts rather than conjecture—any earnest complainant—any man with a constructive suggestion—should speak at this critical hour."

"We have sought and entreated criticism of our methods and results. Much of it has been useful and has borne fruit, but a greater part has sped dying and failed dead. Of late, lacking little of substance—at least little that could be proved or demonstrated—professional criticism has degenerated into scurrilous and personal appraisals of, and assaults on, officials."

Here Johnson made his attack on the Washington Post.

Whom Johnson Will Head.
"We will give heed and appreciate to the words of any man who can show that the effect of an NRA code or any provision thereof has been harmful, or that it might be improved or that it ought not to exist at all. But I say, with equal earnestness, that NRA is a law for the common good and that any man who seeks to undermine the common confidence in such a law—not by argument or statement of fact, but by unsupported abuse of men or arbitrary and unproved assertions—any such man is an enemy of the common good."

"At no stage has NRA obscured its actions or repelled criticism. It has operated in the open as no other administration ever did before. It now inauguates a field day for criticism from anyone who has a word to say, but I may as well remain here and now that it will not receive unsupported personal assaults and it will accept only for what they are worth academic conjectures not backed by facts as to what may—or may not—the effect of this or that provision in a code."

Statement of the Washington Post
In Reply to Johnson
By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 21.—Dr. Paul M. Pearson of Swarthmore, Pa., Governor of the Virgin Islands, has filed a petition in bankruptcy in Federal Court here. Liabilities are given as $8000 to $8000, incurred while he was active in the Chautauqua movement in Pennsylvania. His attorney, Claude C. Smith, said the petition was filed to protect some of the creditors against others who were pressing claims too severely.

"In the great sweep of events that has rushed by us in such a flood of current and volume in the past few months, it is difficult to give events their true perspective and value. Perhaps, in our zeal and earnestness, we may tend to over-emphasize the importance of our work. But what have we here? We have a complete reorganization of our domestic economic structure. We are departing from an unequal system of labor, that gave it what great industries designed to give it: where consumers were at the mercy of a constant and unchecked combining of industry; where the small employer was gradually being eliminated by the increasing power of chain operations at a rate which—it is sometimes asserted—in ten years, would have left nobody in this country dependent on wages, salary or income from investment—the complete destruction of small enterprises.

"We are in a period of change—not a dictatorial change but a popular change which will have a profound effect on us all. The guidance of that change is in your hands. This process of public hearing, protest and suggestion is the method for that guidance. You can sit still and silent and let things happen that may hurt you or you can come forward now and help us to make your own law succeed."

"For an exactly similar reason no code authority can afford to be absent from the great code conference of March 5 which will be opened by the President. Policies of universal application will be then discussed and action may be taken profoundly affecting many codes."

"On these rules, this is the great round-up—first, the public hearing on any conceivable cause of complaint, and then the code conference to accommodate all of the codes for the cure of every just complaint."

"Like everything else about NRA it can be successful only by a wide measure of public support. We cannot find out what is the matter broadcast without calling it by name, characterized the Washington Post as a 'dying newspaper.'

"In fairness to the Post, it must be stated that since it passed under its present management on June 2, 1933, its circulation has increased 37 per cent and its increase in advertising lineage for the six months ending Dec. 31, 1933, was the third largest for the entire country."

"The Post is publishing in serial form a book called 'The New Dealers,' as material of interest to its readers, and in each issue of the paper it has stated that the views expressed do not necessarily represent the opinions of the Post."

"The Washington Post has a high regard for the ability, energy and devotion to the public interest of Gen. Johnson.

"It is a matter of regret that it cannot, also, admire his self-control or temperance in public utterance."

Alleges Zoning Ordinance Is Violated by Establishment at 5007 Waterman.

The Church of the Unity, Unitarian, at 5015 Waterman avenue, today filed suit for an injunction against Sullivan & Riley, undertakers, and against the D. R. F. Realty Co., from which the concern leases the property. The church asks that the undertakers be forbidden to use the premises further for the purposes of their business.

"Violation of the city zoning ordinance is charged by the church, the block being in a multiple dwelling district, where certain forms of business are permissible, but undertaking establishments are not permitted, the petition says.

"Existence of the undertaking establishment so near the church, the petition says, is a constant reminder to the members of the church, pupils of the Sunday school, and those connected with church organizations, of the depressing influence of death. It creates depression of mind, and constant horror, fear and dread of the unknown dead in the morgue next door, autopsy that may be conducted there, embalming of the dead, and of the communicable diseases from which they may have died. It will deprive the members of the reasonable comfort, repose and enjoyment to which they are entitled in and from the church property."

Judge Baron After Inspection
Says Inmates Have Little Chance to Mend Lives.

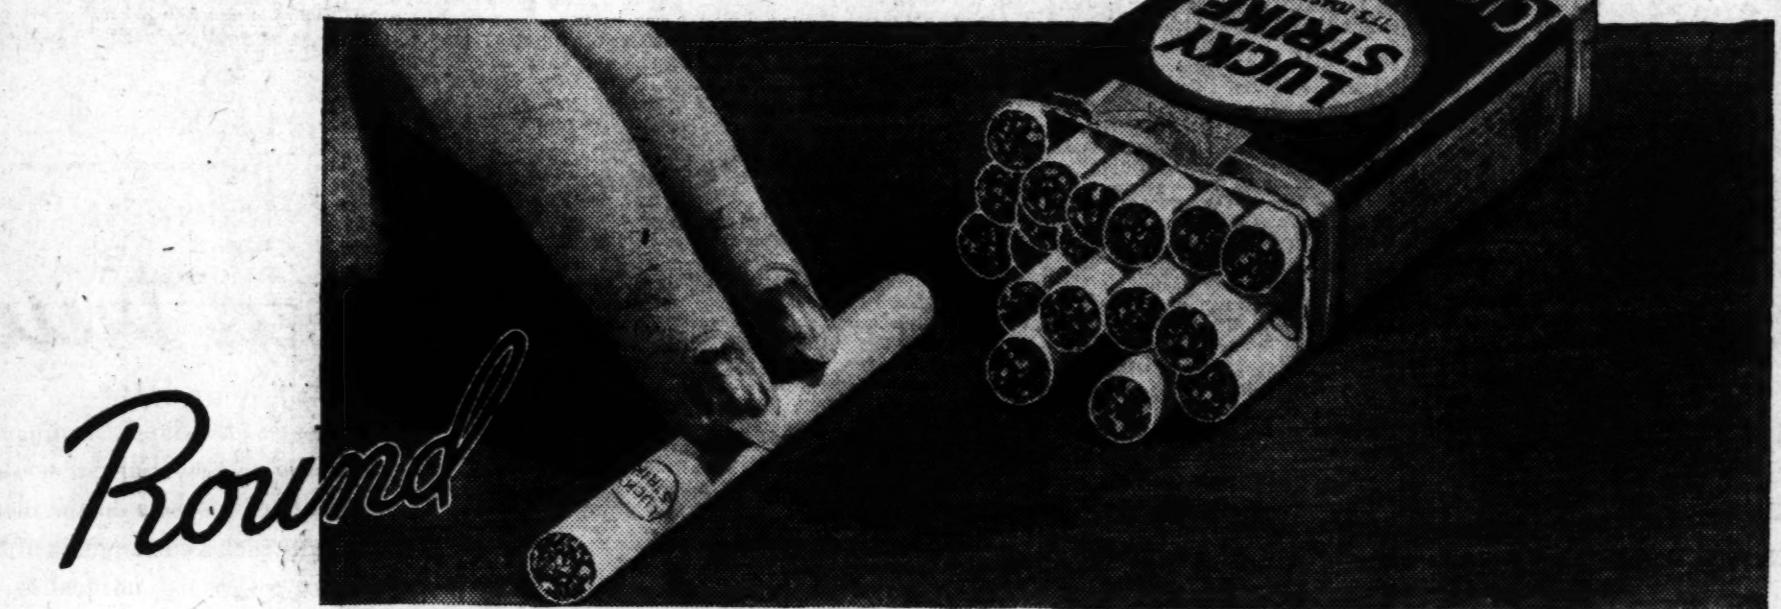

A first-hand view of Missouri penal institutions has given Circuit Judge Max G. Baron a determination to make sure, before he sends any prisoner to any of them, that there is no disposition of the case more likely to serve the ends of justice and human reclamation.

Assigned Jan. 1 to the criminal division, No. 12, Judge Baron began in December to visit the State institutions in order to know in just what circumstances he would be expected to place convicted persons for terms of from two months to life. Continuing his inspections on week-ends, he has visited the penitentiary, the Booneville training school for boys, the Chillicothe training school for girls and the Algoa Farms intermediate reformatory. He has yet to inspect the Tipton school for Negro girls and the city workhouse.

At the four institutions, he related today, he found antiquated fire-traps in all but Algoa, where modern buildings were in prospect of dangerous over-crowding within a few months; and in all, he said, a competent personnel prevented from

MISSOURI PRISONS TOO CROWDED TO ATTEMPT REFORM

Judge Baron After Inspection
Says Inmates Have Little Chance to Mend Lives.

A first-hand view of Missouri's penal institutions has given Circuit Judge Max G. Baron a determination to make sure, before he sends any prisoner to any of them, that there is no disposition of the case more likely to serve the ends of justice and human reclamation.

Assigned Jan. 1 to the criminal bench, Division No. 12, Judge Baron began in December to visit the State institutions in order to know just what circumstances he would be expected to place convicted persons for terms of a few months to life. Continuing his inspections on week-ends, he has visited the penitentiary, the Bonneville training school for boys, the Chillicothe training school for girls and the Alca Farms intermediate reformatory. He has yet to inspect the Tipton school for Negro girls and the city workhouse.

At the four institutions, he related today, he found antiquated fire-traps in all but Alca, where modern buildings were in prospect of dangerous over-crowding within a few months; and in all, he said, a competent personnel prevented from reclaiming prisoners for return to children who were rather unfortunate than criminal.

Pointing out that the Legislature had empowered Gov. Park to call a special election for a $10,000,000 bond issue to be supplemented by $2,500,000 PWA funds for penal and correctional institutions, Judge Baron said, "If the citizens of this state are concerned with their duty to themselves and their families as well as to those who have to be incarcerated in these institutions, they will see that the bond issue is put before them and put through."

"Sometimes, I fear, we are disposed to be vengeful rather than wise in the administration of justice. We forget that these inmates are going to be out again and we shall then have to live with them. Certainly for our protection and the safety of our family, we should try to reclaim them, and not return them to society as assets rather than liabilities or, in some instances, positive menaces."

Such reclamation, he said, was quite beyond the facilities he had found at the state institutions. A most striking fault, he said, was the lack of quarters for segregating defective or hardened criminals from prisoners who offered immediate prospect of restoration to orderly and useful lives, and who, in the reformatories, might have committed no crime.

Old and Young Prisoners.

At Bonneville, he related, he found boy nine years old who had never slept in a bed, never worn shoes and never had three meals in any one day until he was picked up, forage through garbage cans, and sent there because there was no other place for him. There at the same time were two young men on 40-year sentence for kidnapping, with no provision, in present law, for their transfer after they became of age. When they were nearly 40, Judge Baron pointed out, they would still be mingling with both there and at the penitentiary, he said, the inmates in bad weather were herded together in "dingy, dark, damp basements." Institutions for boys and girls should have gymnasiums, which, he believed, besides relieving the tension of such corralling, would set competitive goals of excellence which might in time extend to things of the mind and character.

Since his appointment less than a year ago Mrs. Dorothy Crain Shim at the Chillicothe girls' school had inaugurated a number of very inexpensive but surprisingly effective improvements, he related. As an example, he cited that she had cut up the long, bare dormitory tables into tables for four or six and provided white tablecloths, and provided shades for the bare electric light globes. The girls themselves, he said, had set to work to make napkins, curtains and other decorative touches, took pains with their manners, and showed signs of an awakened group spirit and personal pride.

But he added, here also the buildings were fire-traps. Windows were not barred, but all the doors in each cottage were locked at night by one central lever. A fire that shut off that lever would trap all the young women in the dormitory.

Every one of 30 girls he interviewed had come from a broken home. Divorce or desertion by father or mother, he said, was the largest contributing cause to the moral delinquency of the 238 in the training school.

On the "curative" side, he said, one large cause of crime, prohibition, had been eliminated. Two factors remained, economic stress and pathology, or defects of mind or character subject to scientific treatment. The economic factor lay in forces outside the courts of law, but Judge Baron said he believed the other might be reached by thorough medical and mental examination of every person arrested for a crime involving moral turpitude.

"Executives of the institutions," he remarked, "were unanimous in criticising the judiciary for failure to exercise the powers of parole granted by law. They said many of their prisoners belonged outside that outside they might have a chance to recover an orderly and useful mode of living, while in the institution they were merely subject to contamination."

FOR NYE NRA RESOLUTION

Senate Group Approves Calling for Information on Officials.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—The Senate today adopted the modified Nye resolution calling on the NRA for the former industrial connections of Recovery Administration officials after Administrator Hugh S. Johnson appeared before the Finance Committee and gave his testimony.

The resolution was the center of controversy yesterday in the Senate with Senator Nye, its author, charging the NRA was "shoddy" and of representatives of big business who were administering codes to the detriment of the little man. The resolution was revised to limit its scope to names and salaries of officials in the Washington headquarters.

$200,000 Breach Suit Settled.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, Feb. 21.—John W. Lawrence, counsel for Miss Florence Taylor of Washington, announced today that her suit for $200,000 against Mortimer C. Gryzmish, Boston business man, for breach of promise had been settled out of court, but he declined to indicate the settlement.

Johnson plan, any newspaper could have been deprived of its license arbitrarily if it dared to criticize administration policies. That may not have been the intent, but it was certainly the fact. The President may consider the publishers' stipulation for free press "pure surplusage," as he terms it, but a majority of the press does not, nor, we think, does the country which encounters its disapproval.

Boston Herald—The President's executive order establishing a newspaper code is an amazing document. Executive orders are usually objective, cold, impartial and even tempered. This one is not. Half of it is argumentative, bad-mannered and offensive, a good example of the "pure surplusage" to which the President refers.

The final clause, especially, will arouse the resentment of self respecting journalists. It contains a strong intimation of a Presidential belief that, in asking for a code section reaffirming the freedom of the press, the publishers desired merely a license to exploit childhood, operate in fire trap buildings and outrage decency.

Chicago Tribune—The publishers do not recall that any other industry in the country has had attributed to it, even by implication, such qualities as lewdness, obscenity and indifference to physical hazards of employment, or the desire to exploit children, even the industry concerning which controversy has raged many years with respect to labor conditions. Many publishers feel an odium is undeservedly directed against them for what is not revealed in the complaint. Objection which every administrator in Washington from the President down has made to the freedom of the press reservation is further indication of its paramount need of restatement as a stipulation and pledge.

Official of Douglas Co. Says For-

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—The House Naval Committee learned today that Charles Francis Adams, Secretary of the Navy from 1920 to 1932, owned 500 shares of stock in the Douglas Aircraft Co. on Nov. 30, 1932.

Navy representatives already had shown that the Douglas Company did $4,288,341 worth of business for the Navy between 1930-32 and eight months of 1933, making 21 per cent profit.

J. H. Kindelberger of Santa Monica, Cal., vice-president of Douglas in charge of engineering, supplied the information about Adams' holdings.

Kindelberger did not know when Adams acquired the stock. Adams has accepted an invitation to appear before the committee, probably next week.

CHEVROLET ANNOUNCES a revolutionary new line of low-priced trucks

Bigger, huskier models feature an entirely new engine, giving increased power on less fuel than ever!

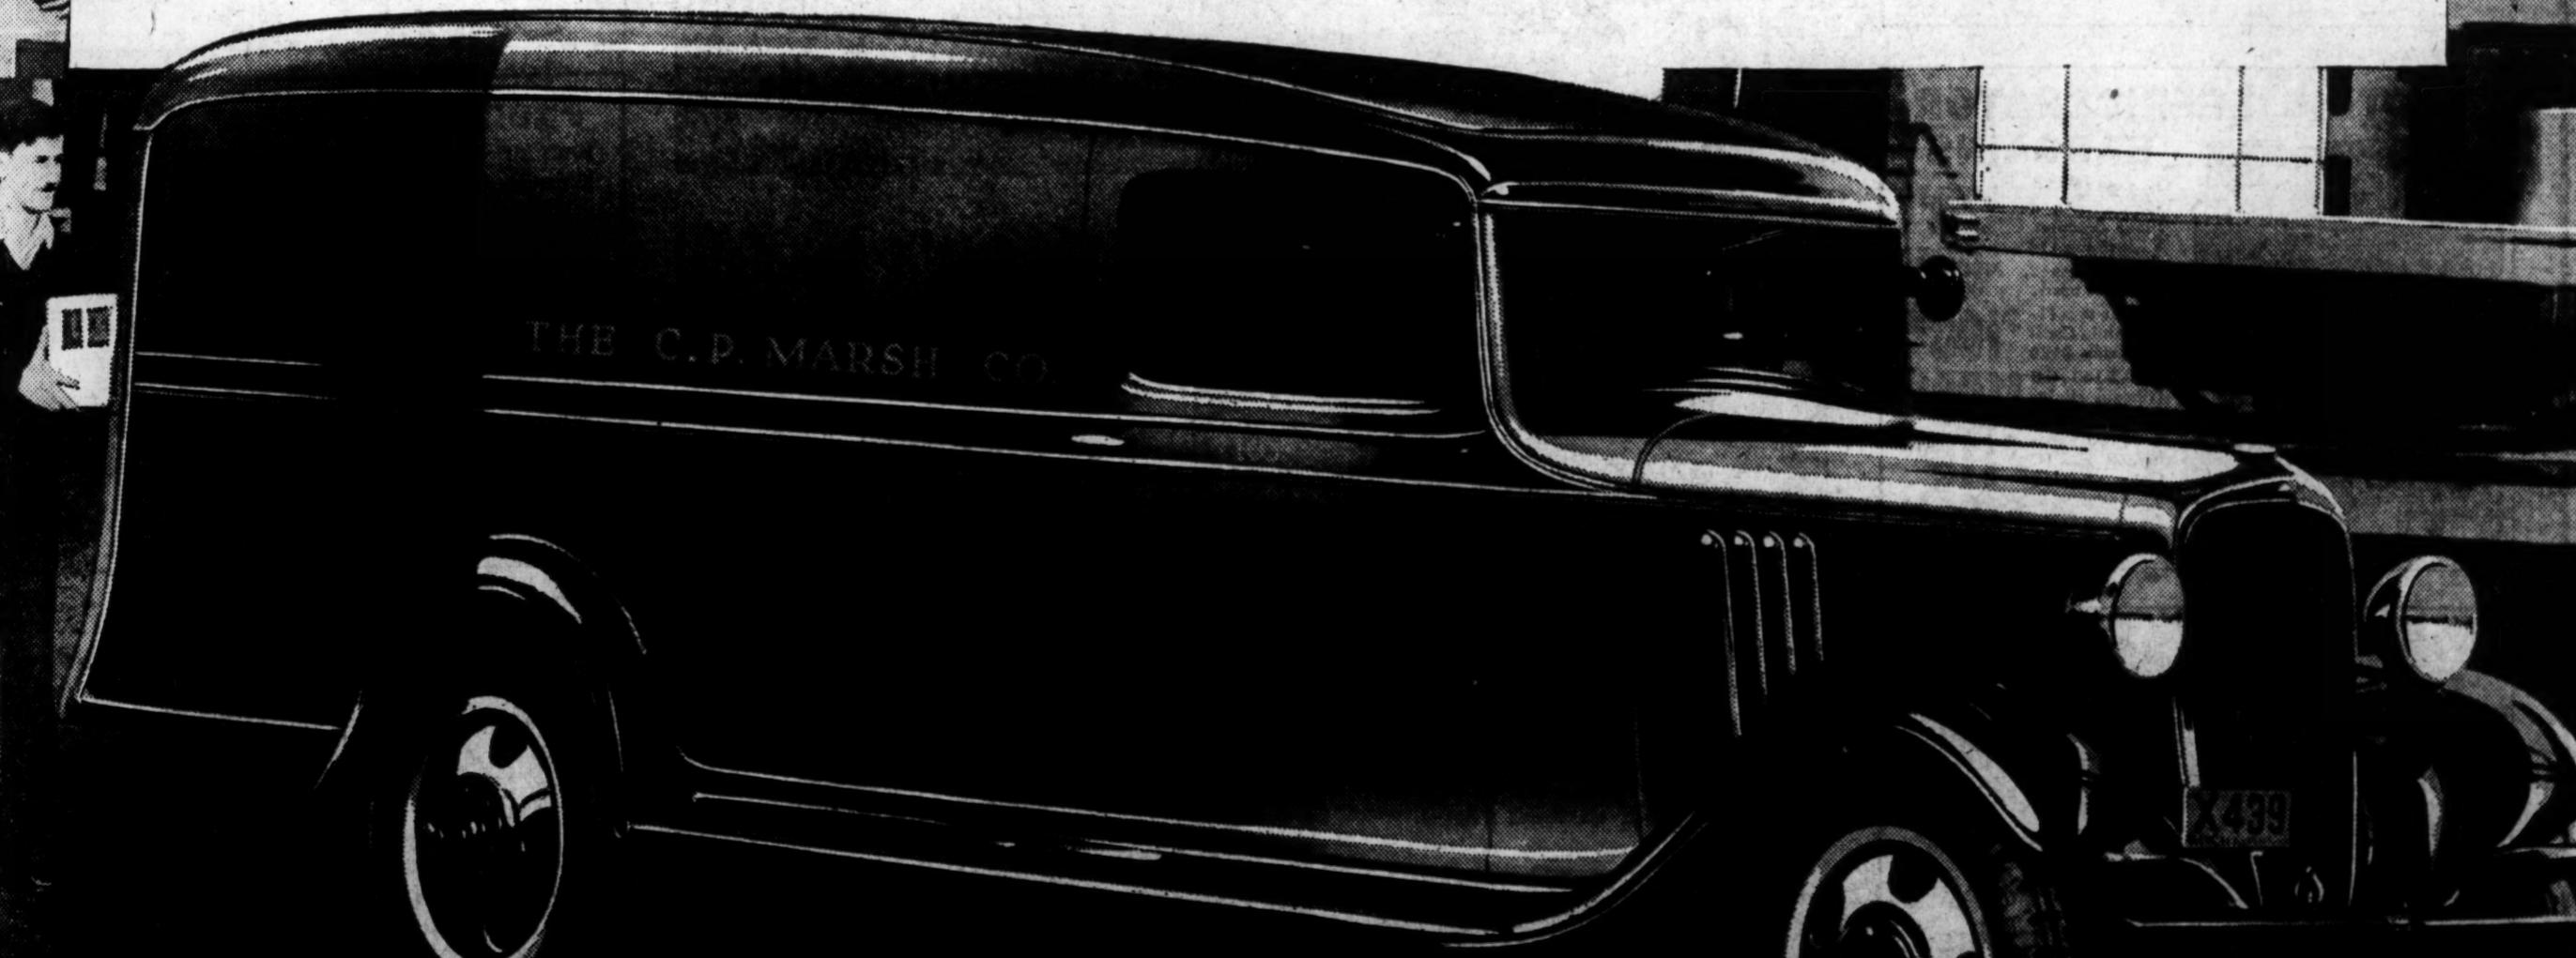

Here are the remarkable facts: The new Chevrolet trucks are even bigger than last year's models—bigger in bodies, with stronger, heavier frames, huskier transmissions and rear axles, and larger brakes. They will deliver more power at the time when you need it most. They will haul bigger loads than ever at an even faster pace. Yet, thanks to the new Blue-Flame engine, operating costs are actually lower than before—and that means the lowest in the hauling field. The net result of all these improvements is a line of trucks like no others on the market—the first to offer such a combination of big capacity, great power and unequalled economy. You are going to like them, and you'll like the prices, too, for they are the lowest ever placed on trucks as efficient as the 1934 Chevrolets.

Says That Policy Alone Will Not Adjust Prices; "Economy the Only Way."

PARIS, Feb. 21.—The weight of the Government was thrown yesterday against the theory that devaluation of the franc was the best road out of the economic muddle.

Because devaluation has been frequently discussed, Louis Germain-Martin, Minister of Finance, went before the Chamber of Deputies, to oppose it publicly.

"Devaluation alone will never adjust interior and exterior prices," he said, insisting that economy "is the only way."

COUNTY ASSESSOR LOSES CWA HELP FOR INEFFICIENCY

Board Orders 374 Men Fired After Investigating Charges of Mismanagement in Office.

Following an inquiry into charges of mismanagement of CWA employees assigned to the St. Louis County Assessor's office, the county CWA board today ordered the dismissal of 374 employees and abandonment of the work on which they were engaged. The men were compiling detailed descriptions of each parcel of real estate in the county with a view to a general reassessment.

Asa B. Wallace, chairman of the county CWA board, said it had found negligence and inefficiency in the office management of the project, and lack of inspection which led to irregular work by field crews. Some crews, he said, obtained descriptions of as few as five real estate properties during a week, while others were able to handle 50.

He said the board had asked Asa Neaf to remove Peter Murman, of his regular staff whom Neaf had assigned to supervise CWA work, and that Neaf had agreed to do that but had not complied. Neaf declined to comment, but said he might make a statement Monday.

$87,502 Spent on Survey.

Up to Feb. 15, the CWA had spent $87,502 on the survey. The outside work, Neaf said, is about 65 per cent complete. He had requested the employment of 80 draftsmen to handle the inside work and expected to complete the full job by May 1.

The inquiry was precipitated by charges brought before the board by an inspector whom Neaf discharged Jan. 10. The inspector, Perry Moraine, said a 5-cent discrepancy in his expense account was used as a pretext in firing him.

Moraine had been assigned to inspect the work of 27 field crews, among them one composed of James O'Hara, Andrew O'Hara and William Davit. James O'Hara is president of a county CWA workers' organization. Moraine said he had reported to Murman that this crew, in nine days preceding Dec. 21, had completed only 22 jobs, while other crews in his territory were doing up to 12 days. On Murman's instructions, he said, he ordered the O'Haras and Davit to report to the Assessor's office.

Says Three Attacked Him.

The three, he said, had assaulted him when he relayed Murman's instructions to them, and inflicted injuries which required hospital treatment for two days. Moraine said he had preferred assault charges against them, but dropped them at Neaf's request.

Neaf also asked him, Moraine said, to apologize to the crew, but he refused to do that, and was fired. Neaf, at a meeting of the board Friday, denied that he had asked Moraine to drop the charges or to apologize. His assistant, Murman, told the board the men had told him Moraine was disagreeable and that they were not the aggressors in the fight.

The three men of whom Moraine complained were fired by the CWA board Monday as a result of its inquiry.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1934
THREE ALDERMEN
REPLY TO THE MAYOR

Charge He Takes Credit for Good Bills and Blames Board for Errors.

Three members of the Ways and Means Committee of the Board of Aldermen struck back at Mayor Dickmann yesterday for his criticism of the handling of the supplementary appropriations bill, which has been in the committee more than a month.

The Mayor, on being informed Monday that city institutions are facing a shortage of food and supplies, due to the holding up of the $104,000 supplementary appropriation bill, took the Ways and Means Committee to task for dilatory tactics, and explained he "wanted the public to know who was to blame."

The Mayor pointed out that the money is available, but cannot be spent until authorization is given by the Board of Aldermen.

Alderman Hasty, Slav and Lietchen, Democrats, in a reply yesterday, charged Mayor Dickmann with "consistently maintaining an aloof attitude and pursuing an independent path, which you deem right."

Say Mayor Takes Credit.

"On the other hand, we have cooperated with you even to the extent of passing bills, which you requested and which you were subsequently forced to veto, because of illegality in their effect," the statement continues. "As matters developed it became apparent that if any errors were discovered, we, as members of the Board, would be charged with them. If not, then you and your cabinet took the credit for forcing through meritorious legislation."

"If this practice had proceeded the result would have netted a nice record for the Board, would it have not? You should realize that in the spirit of the charter is to be carried out that the Board of Aldermen is a legislative and deliberative body, and every measure should be considered and not 'ganged through' like the Board was a country fair and you the harker."

The Aldermen charge department heads with failure to submit necessary information on pending legislation, stating "there is always some excuse, and the information fails to arrive." "Some of the bills have been held in committee because the cabinet officer concerned failed to consult the proper committee before it was tossed to us for action," they assert. "In this respect we feel we have more right to complain than you."

Suggests Consulting Charter.

Discussing the Mayor's reference to the threatened food and supply shortage at institutions, the statement describes the situation as "grossly misrepresented," and advises that "you and your Supply Commissioner should consult the charter—you will find ample power to meet any such emergency."

In conclusion, the Aldermen asserted, "you complain that no previous board ever held up a supplementary budget. Perhaps you can find a good explanation in the fact that the people elected these men to exercise their natural talents, and not to be mere rubber stamps."

The Ways and Means Committee of the Board of Aldermen is composed of five Democrats and two Republicans. The committee has passed on 30 of the 54 items in the supplementary appropriation bill, and is scheduled to take up the remaining requests today.

The mention of "illegal bills" apparently is a reference to the automobile drivers' license bill, an administration proposal, which was found to be in conflict with the State law. The suggestion by the Aldermen that the charter provides means of meeting any shortage of supplies at city institutions, refers to Article 15, Section 2, of the charter authorizing the Comptroller, with the approval of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, to draw warrants on the City Treasurer in case of emergency.

"MY FACE TURNED RED AS A BEET"CUPPLES STATION
HISTORY RELATED
AT RAIL HEARING

Roads Seek to Charge 50 Cents a Ton for Unloading Freight at Warehouses There.

The early history of the Cupples property covering a large area at Seventh and Spruce streets, now one of the most valuable holdings of Washington University Corporation, was related by Isaac A. Hedges, manager of the University's properties, at a hearing which continued today before Myron Witters, Interstate Commerce Commission examiner.

The hearing, which opened yesterday, is on the question of permitting railroads to make a charge of 50 cents a ton for loading and unloading carload freight at the station established on the Cupples property by the Terminal Railroad Association. The Cupples block houses a number of warehouse companies and industrial tenants who are served by the Terminal tracks on the property, and the University is opposing the proposed charge.

History of Property.

Hedges said the Cupples development goes back to 1889 and that as a youth he watched the excavation for the building. An old city market on part of the property had been abandoned, he said, and some of it was used for a dump.

In 1889, he continued, Jay Gould led in the formation of a central railroad terminal company, which became the Terminal Railroad Association. The Cupples property was convenient to tracks coming through the tunnel from Eads Bridge and Samuel Cupples and Robert S. Brookings carried out an extensive development to provide warehouse and loading facilities for freight. Large warehouses were made in building tracks and other facilities, Hedges testified.

This property was given to Washington University in 1909 by Cupples and Brookings, Hedges said.

Roads Have Made No Charge.

The railroads have for years borne the cost of loading and unloading carload freight at the Cupples Station and are also bearing the cost at the new St. Louis Mart Station. A number of independent warehouses located elsewhere, and not having the privilege of free loading and unloading, have complained that they are at a disadvantage.

It is contended on the part of the Cupples Station that the owners of the property have expended large sums for the benefit of the railroads and are providing the carriers with many facilities for which they pay no rent, and that the loading and unloading service may be considered as partly compensatory. Attorneys E. A. Haid and Charles P. Williams represent Washington University in the hearing.

BANKERS FOR RELAXING OF THE SECURITIES ACT

Also Urge Intermediate Industrial Banks for Long-Term Financing.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Relaxation of the securities act and creation of intermediate industrial banks for long-term business financing were endorsed by the advisory council of the Federal Reserve System yesterday.

The sentiment of the council, which numbers representatives of each Reserve district, was discussed with reporters by Gov. Eugene Black of the board. In stressing the need for ready capital funds, Black said the council felt "that through opening the capital market there would be very rapid effects on employment to the end that the Recovery program might make a great and speedy advance."

Similarly, Black said the council thought capital needs could best be met by a system of intermediate industrial banks operating under the Reserve Board and housed in the various Reserve banks and branches.

It was understood this proposed banking system which Black already has discussed with the President, would discount paper of the long-term capital type and lend directly when an industry could not get accommodation elsewhere.

Legislation for establishing such a banking system is being drafted.

"The council also was of the opinion," Black said, "that there should be such modification of the securities act as would open the capital market and felt that with the market open there would be more demand for capital loans."

Untermeyer Thinks Stock Regulation Bill "Dangerous."

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 21.—The Stock Exchange regulation bill recently introduced at Washington was discussed here today by Samuel Untermeyer, New York lawyer, as "in some respects dangerous, unworkable, unduly extreme and likely to disrupt our financial system."

In a breakfast club speech Untermeyer, who for 30 years has sought Federal regulation of stock exchanges, said he "would regard it as nothing short of a catastrophe" if a "proper bill" were not enacted.

Untermeyer particularly attacked the provision headed "margin requirements on long accounts." He said it prohibited "every member of stock exchange and every person who transacts business through such a member, to extend or maintain credit or arrange for the extension or maintenance of credit to or for any customer of any securities not registered upon the national securities exchange."

It would mean that not only no broker but no bank could lend upon an unlisted security; it would destroy the marketability of fully 75 per cent of all the outstanding securities of corporations in this country. . . . It would render United States Government, state and city bonds . . . unavailable for borrowing purposes."

THE RETURN OF THE NATIVE

Always ask to see the bottle and look for the National Distillers emblem. It signifies that the whiskey on which it appears has its quality and purity safeguarded from the distillery to you by one watchful ownership.

NOW that faith in labels has been restored, the Bourbon highball has come naturally back into its own. It is being served everywhere, in clubs, hotels and in the home. As truly native as the maize from which it is made, here is an American drink best suited to our taste and climate. Made, either with ginger ale or water, charged or plain, it is a most satisfactory beverage.

When ordering a highball, ask to see the bottle and pour the drink yourself. When stocking up the home, look for the National Distillers seal and Penn-Maryland signature before you buy.

First Visit to South Carolina Since He Was Deprived of Assembly Seat, 50 Years Ago.

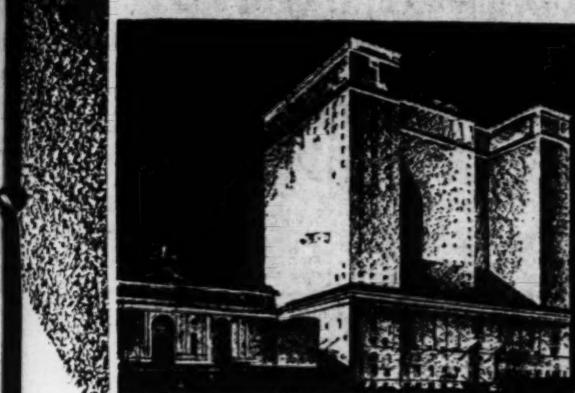

COLUMBIA, S. C., Feb. 21.—"Senator" Green Coleman, bent with age, came back today to the legislative halls he was ordered to leave almost 50 years ago as a political exile—a "man without a state."

Coleman was a Charlotte (N. C.) Negro who was a member of the South Carolina "Carpet Bag" Legislature in 1874. He served until 1876 when Col. Wade Hampton, riding the roads by night with his red-shirts, "took over" the State as Governor. Today Coleman was accompanied by prominent Charlotte business and professional men. The General Assembly met in joint session to receive the aged Negro. After he was ordered from the State, Coleman went to Charlotte where he worked as a commercial painter until the infirmities of age caused him to give up his job. Recently he expressed a wish to return to Columbia before he died. He had never returned to South Carolina after his banishment.

PRESIDENT STAVES OFF REVOLT ON SUGAR PLAN

Assures Congressmen From Beet States He Is Not Hostile to Industry.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Rumblings of revolt among representatives from beet sugar states over the administration's sugar program were quieted last night by assurances from President Roosevelt that he was not hostile to the industry and that modifications would be made in pending sugar legislation.

An understanding on policies of sugar production control was reached at a conference between the President and a congressional committee composed of Senators Adams of Colorado and O'Mahoney of Wyoming and Representatives Taylor of Colorado and Robinson of Utah.

The committee was named after opposition had arisen to restrictions imposed upon beet sugar by the pending bills.

Testimony before the House Agriculture Committee had been interpreted by many members as indicative of a program to eliminate the domestic beet sugar industry through Government planning.

In a statement after the meeting with the President the congressional committee said Mr. Roosevelt had repudiated any inferences that he was hostile to the beet sugar industry.

The President and the committee considered modifications of pending sugar control legislation, and conferences are planned between representatives of the sugar producing states and the Secretary of Agriculture.

Senator O'Mahoney issued the following statement:

"The fact that the administration has already approved a quota of 1,450,000 tons for beet sugar producers, which is more than was ever produced in any one year until 1933, is a very clear indication that the administration is not hostile to the industry. I feel very confident that constructive amendments will result from the White House conference which I attended today."

IDENTIFIED IN ATTEMPTED HOLDUP OF POLICEMAN

Ex-Convict Named by Officer and Wife as One of Three in 1929 Robbery.

David Baskin, young ex-convict, is held after having been identified by Patrolman and Mrs. Vincent Smith, 2547 Arlington avenue, as one of three robbers who attempted to hold them up in Fairgrounds Park the night of May 17, 1932.

They were seated in the officer's automobile at the time the robbers came up. Smith fired two shots at the holdup men and they fled. A young man arrested last November confessed the attempted robbery and named Baskin, who the prisoner said, had been wounded and was treated at a hospital at Poplar Bluff.

Detectives several days ago received information that Baskin was back in St. Louis. Examination after his arrest showed he had been shot in the left side of the chest and right thigh. He said the wounds, however, were received in an attempted holdup in East St. Louis in 1929 and denied the attempt to rob Smith. Baskin has served a reformatory sentence for robbery, according to police records.

PROJECT TO LINK COAL MINE FIELDS TO RIVER SYSTEM

Southern Illinois Business Men Will Send Proposal to Washington to Canalize Big Muddy.

By the Associated Press.

CENTRALIA, Ill., Feb. 21.—Visualizing a new Mid-West industrial center and jobs for thousands of "Little Egypt's" unemployed, a group of Southern Illinois business men this week will send to Washington a proposal to convert Big Muddy River into a commercial canal, linking the State's richest coal fields with the inland water-way system.

It would be one of the most ambitious relief programs yet attempted in Southern Illinois. It is estimated the project would represent an outlay of over $4,000,000 and give jobs to virtually all unemployed.

The relief plan, which is sponsored by business men of Franklin, Williamson, Jackson and Perry Counties, will be submitted in Washington when word is received from Congressman Kent Keller advising the proper authority to handle the issue.

Dr. Frank C. Murrah of Herrin, chairman of a committee representing the four counties interested in the project, said it was decided to take up the matter first with Congressman Keller to learn the proper place to submit the proposal.

"We wrote Congressman Keller recently regarding this matter," Dr. Murrah said, "and we should receive a reply to our inquiry within the next few days."

Dr. Murrah said he doubted whether the project could be handled under the CWA plan inasmuch as the community would be required to put up 70 per cent of the money used back to the Government in taxes." We haven't any way of raising this amount in taxes," the chairman said.

"We are hoping, however, that we can get a hearing before the Public Works Administration," Dr. Murrah said.

Proponents of the project said the railroads will be benefited as a result of increased industrial activity.

The four-county committee reported the work was needed more in this district as a relief aid than in many other sections of the country. Among the reasons given were

SEEKS TO VOID SETTLEMENT OF $15,000 SUIT FOR $1000

Lawyer Says Sand Company Made Misrepresentation on Negro Worker's Claim.

A motion to set aside a settlement in which Tim Hardin, a Negro, accepted $1,000 and agreed not to press a $15,000 suit for damages was taken under advisement by Circuit Judge Landwehr today after Hardin's attorney, Everett Hullverson, argued that his client had been induced to accept the money by misrepresentation.

Hardin, who lives in Kirkwood, sued the Tavern Rock Sand Co. of Klonkide, Mo., alleging that through the company's negligence he contracted silicosis while employed there. Silicosis is a lung disease caused by inhaling dust.

Hullverson tendered to the court the $100 Hardin had accepted, including 100 $1 bills and other currency. He said he represented many persons who had contracted silicosis and had obtained far larger settlements, but that this one was negotiated "behind his back."

Cross-examined, A. F. Brinkman, claim adjuster who made the settlement with Hardin, Hullverson asked if he had not "settled 28 cases at one spot behind my back." Brinkman denied he had done so.

Hardin, he said, had discussed the settlement with his daughter before accepting it, and had himself proposed $1000 as suitable. He said Hardin told him many of the silicosis claims were faked, but that he did not regard Hardin's case as a fake.

He denied he had told Hardin the company would go into receivership rather than pay the claims against it. Brinkman said there had been 45 suits filed against the company for silicosis damages totaling $72,000, and that the company had been notified of 200 other claims.

PAYMENT FOR BOMB DAMAGE

Senate Votes $1863 for Farmer Near Scott Field.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—A bombed farm-house and a lost fishing boat were listed today in a mass of claims against the Federal Government, which the Senate has voted to pay.

The claims were disallowed by the Comptroller-General in nearly every instance. The claimants appealed to Congress. They must be approved by the House before the claimants can get their money. Some of the claims have been pending for years. In July, 1931, an army bomber took off from Scott Field, Ill., to practice bombing. Due to a high wind a bomb missed its target by 110 feet and damaged the farm-house of Sam Harrison. He will get $1863 from the House agrees. Three Hawaiians—M. Giaconia, Jack Buono and Joseph Asaro—will be paid for losing their fish catches. They helped rescue an aviator who fell in the sea off Hawaii in October, 1930, cutting loose their nets and anchors. ## BANK ROBBERY CLEARED UP, BOY OF 7 THE CULPRIT

"Gang" Takes Him Before Chief, Who, as Promised, Helps Him Out.

By the Associated Press.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., Feb. 21.—The speech Chief of Police William Shely made at the annual Christmas dinner for newsboys has led to the solution of a bank robbery committed by a 7-year-old boy.

"If ever any of you get into trouble, come and see me," the Chief said in his speech. "The police are always ready to help you when you are willing to do the right thing."

A group of boys accepted the invitation yesterday, and behind closed doors the spokesman reminded the Chief of his speech. They not only confessed that a member of the gang had stolen some money from a bank and divided the loot, the Chief said, but also brought in the youthful robber, who admitted he had sneaked into the bank unnoticed, and reached over the counter for rolls of bills.

No report of the missing money had been made to police. But bank officials discovered a shortage of $175. Of the amount, $33 was returned by the boys.

The Chief promised the boys he would not "tell the folks about it," and said he would not file charges as the bank did not desire to prosecute.

KAY FRANCIS, MOVIE ACTRESS, DIVORCES KENNETH MCKENNA

She Charges Third Husband With Cruelty and Wins Interlocutory Decree in Los Angeles.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 21.—The marriage of Kay Francis, 30-year-old movie actress, to Kenneth McKenna, actor and director, ended today with an interlocutory decree of divorce against him. She charged cruelty.

In court the case was listed as Katherine Gibbs Melziner against Leinen Melziner, their real names. They were married three years ago and separated last December.

Melziner was her third husband. Her previous marriages were with William Gaston and J. Dwight Francis.

The actress testified that her husband nagged and harassed her when she returned home from work late at night.

Her maid, Ida Perry, said this was true, and added that McKenna assumed an air of superiority toward his wife.

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—The average salary of 16,500 Methodist ministers in the United States last year was $1695, a decrease of only $7 from 1932, the Board of Pensions and Relief of the Methodist Episcopal Church was informed in a report. Chile is the point of origin for nitrate shipments.

Shipments of scrap iron, steel, lead and cotton from the United States to Japan also pass almost daily.

Famed as Diplomat, He Will Successor Gen. Fuller.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Major-General John H. Russell has succeeded Major-General Ben H. Tolson as commandant of the Marines on the latter's retirement at the statutory age of 64 years next month.

Russell's name, with those of Brigadier-General Harry Lee to be a major-General and Col. Douglas C. McDowell to be Brigadier-General, have been sent to the Senate for confirmation.

After nearly 30 years of leading marines in all parts of the world, an assignment to Haiti as High Commissioner gained Russell a reputation as a diplomat. When troubles became acute recently in the Negro republic of Liberia, a high official of the British Government suggested that a "General Russell" be sent to Liberia.

Son Argued Because Father Turned Machine Off.

By the Associated Press.

OIL CITY, Pa., Feb. 21.—A father-and-son argument over playing a radio today ended in the fatal stabbing of Alonso Graham, 56 years old, and the arrest of his son, Russell, 17-year-old high school youth.

Oll City police said that in a rage because the elder Graham, trying to sleep, turned off the radio, the youth struck his father with a hammer and stabbed him fatally with a butcher knife. The boy's sister, Mrs. Helen Graham, 20, who tried to intervene, was beaten about the head, police said. The youth told police: "I don't know why I did it. I was not feeling well this morning so I stayed home from school."

SOCIALIST SWING TO NAZI FACTION BEGUN IN AUSTRIA

Followers of Habicht Say They Are Swamped by Offers of Aid—Marital Law Is Lifted.

By the Associated Press.

VIENNA, Feb. 21.—The Socialist party here are swamped with offers of co-operation from Socialists embittered by last week's civil strife. They add that they have been "embarrassed" by Socialist offers of arms, for they explain, their plan is to gain power through the army, police and gendarmerie—not by an insurrection.

Heretofore, in the Government's anti-Nazi campaign, Socialists have supported Chancellor Dollfuss. They disapproved of his policies, but considered his rule the lesser of two evils.

The Socialist turn to Nazism, whatever its extent throughout Austria, is said to be based on the belief the Nazis offer the party more than does the Government.

Many officials, while conceding that a majority of Socialists were embittered in the disorders, contend many Nazis are coming over to the Government because they are convinced now of its ability to do anything Chancellor Hitler has done.

Marital Law Lifted.

Marital law was ordered lifted today after having been in effect throughout the recent days of revolutionary fighting. Thus, the Government indicated it was sure of its position despite a Nazi ultimatum that party members be given Government positions within Government.

The law was lifted to the Osage Indians, as a hunting reservation, but discovery of oil brought to the tribe a wealth unequalled by any other single group of people. Gradual dissipation of oil royalties, coupled with low prices for oil, have eaten away a large part of the Osages' wealth, however, until the tribe soon may become a charge on the Federal Government.

A bill embodying the power project has been introduced in Congress by Representative Wesley E. Disney, calling for an original public works project to cost $4,000,000. With this would be constructed a diversion dam on the Arkansas at Keweenaw, sending the waters of the Arkansas through a canal to the lake near Fairfax.

Here a fall of 125 feet would furnish power for a plant serving a large section of Northern Oklahoma and Southern Kansas.

A few Austrian newspapers boldly advocated a "return to reason" in commenting on the Nazi ultimatum.

With this editorial plea, they coupled the urge that peace be established with the Nazis before the country is plunged into new and disastrous strife.

The actress testified that her husband nagged and harassed her when she returned home from work late at night.

Her maid, Ida Perry, said this was true, and added that McKenna assumed an air of superiority toward his wife.

HUGE SHIPMENTS OF NITRATE GOING THROUGH PANAMA CANAL

War Material on Way to France and Russia; Japan Also Getting Supplies.

By the Associated Press.

CRISTOBAL, Canal Zone, Feb. 21.—Marine men commented today on the passage through the Panama Canal of presents of unusually large shipments of nitrate. They noted that ships loaded with nitrate, used in the manufacture of high explosives, are going to the Azores, for transhipment of the cargoes to England, France and Russia. Other ships project has been introduced in Congress by Representative Wesley E. Disney, calling for an original public works project to cost $4,000,000. With this would be constructed a diversion dam on the Arkansas at Keweenaw, sending the waters of the Arkansas through a canal to the lake near Fairfax.

RECEIVER FOR PROPERTY OF TOMBIDGE SUBSIDIARY

Store and Apartment Building at 3318 Meramec in Hands of W. S. Madden.

By the Associated Press.

W. S. Madden, an investment broker-salesman, was appointed receiver yesterday by Circuit Judge Green for a store and apartment building at 3318 Meramec street, owned by the Helena Realty Co. He posted bond of $500.

The appointment was made on petition of Mr. and Mrs. William Holderle, 4141A Louisiana avenue, owners of $100,000 in bonds against the property. The Helena Co. is a subsidiary of the Tombigbee.

Nitrate totals 89,604 tons has passed through the canal this month alone. The twelfth shipment since Feb. 1 was given transit Monday. Chile is the point of origin for nitrates.

Shipments of scrap iron, steel, lead and cotton from the United States to Japan also pass almost daily.

LA GUARDIA WANTS RFC TO MAKE LOANS TO CITY

New York Mayor Tells House Group That Debt Repudiation Is Threatened.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Mayor LaGuardia of New York today urged a House banking sub-committee to empower the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to make loans to municipalities.

The Mayor, a former House member, declared there was no better security in the United States than tax anticipation warrants. Unless the Federal Government aids cities they will be forced to repudiate their debts, he said.

Whether the money borrowed was "prudently and honestly handled," he said, "is neither here nor there. The debt exists and interest rates are rigorous."

He told the committee that cities had only one source of revenue—real estate taxes—as the Federal and state governments had taken over all other sources.

JOHNSON AGAINST LAW FOR FLAT 30-HOUR WEEK

Administrator Tells House Committee NRA Offers "Much More Flexible" Way.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—The opinion that such a flat work week limit as 30 hours cannot be applied to industry was expressed to the House Labor Committee today by Recovery Administrator Johnson.

In his first Capitol appearance as Blue Eagle chief, he told the NRA he wanted a "much more flexible and easier" way to reach the end sought—more employment.

Gerard Swope of General Electric likewise opposed the flat 30-hour week as provided in the Connelly bill. He suggested carrying out further hour reductions under the NRA.

"I think something has got to be done very promptly," Johnson said, however, "to shorten hours and raise wages."

Swope favored old-age, unemployment and life insurance for workers, with both employer and employee contributing, and the worker assured of keeping his benefits on changing jobs—a plan he said had been adopted by General Electric.

Asked if the NRA had not failed to employ as many as had been anticipated, Swope said: "The NRA has accomplished a great deal more than I had expected of it. It has done a remarkable job."

"AN EYE TO THE FUTURE — AN EAR TO THE GROUND"

WHAT A BEAUTY!"

PROGRESS out of the common sense of the common people

IT IS no secret that the new cars of General Motors this season are riding the flood tide of popular approval.

We think they deserve to, being the ablest automobiles and the finest values we have so far been able to offer.

They are being acclaimed no less for their graceful streamlined beauty than for their healthful ventilation and gliding ride.

They represent progress, in every direction that contributes to the pleasure and usefulness of an automobile.

That the marked departures this year in our cars are sound and successful is only in part our achievement.

To a very substantial degree their source and perfection is the common sense of the common people.

Months before production, in more than a million letters sent to car-owners, we checked our designs against what the public wanted.

The results confirm once more that he travels farthest in the right direction who is willing to listen as well as to lead.

The three outstanding advancements in modern automobiles — NO-DRAFT VENTILATION, KNEE-ACTION WHEELS, STREAMLINE DESIGN — are each and all General Motors contributions!

26,000 at Work Cleaning Streets—New England Drifts
6 to 12 Feet Deep.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—New York City and its environs today were digging themselves out of the worst snow storm since the blizzard of 1888, with indications that the cost of the job would be at least $2,000,000. The city pressed into service 26,000 men to clean the streets.

Fair and slightly warmer weather was in prospect for today and it appeared likely that most of the local and suburban transportation lines, which were paralyzed yesterday, would be functioning normally before nightfall.

A survey showed 11 persons in or near the metropolitan area were dead; in New York the snowfall was 9.2 inches, but in outlying sections of Westchester County and Long Island it reached a depth of between one and two feet, while in parts of Connecticut a fall of 28 inches was reported; more than 500,000 commuters were marooned in their homes unable to reach their places of employment; fire alarm boxes in all parts of the city were disabled by the snow and sleet; only a very few trains were able to move over the tracks of the Long Island Railroad, with all service between New York and Ja-

ST. JOSEPH AND ST. THOMAS FIVES REACH CHURCH FINAL THREE PL

Pilgrim Girls and Emmaus Eliminated In Close Contests

The St. Joseph Croatian team will play the St. Thomas Aquinas tomorrow night for the championship of the girls' division of the Post-Dispatch's Greater St. Louis Church basketball tournament. St. Joseph defeated Emmaus Evangelical Lutheran, 21 to 16, in the first and St. Thomas won from Pilgrim Evangelical Lutheran, 13 to 9, in the second game of the semifinal doubleheader at Bethlehem Hall, last night. About 300 saw the games.

Of the 21 girls' team originally entered only two are left and there are many who believe the finalists are the pick of the crop. They certainly had to overcome stiff opposition in the semifinal games, as the scores testify.

Emmaus paced St. Joseph at the end of the first quarter, 7 to 6, but led by Rose Kvaternik, St. Joseph managed to tie it up at the half, 13 to 13. Then while Emmaus was held scoreless in the third session, St. Joseph scored twice from the floor to take a 17 to 13 lead. Melba Nagel revived the hopes of the Emmaus rooters with a field goal early in the final quarter to put the five on the short end of a 17 to 15 count. Field goals by Sophie Gromacki and Ann Bialik dispelled Emmaus' hopes of victory. Norma Stelzer's free throw in the last minute of the contest accounted for point No. 16 for Emmaus and ended the scoring.

St. Thomas Forced to Rally.

St. Thomas, too, had to rally to win in spite of scoreless second and fourth quarters. This team, which plays in the Sisler League, under the nom de guerre of Aquinas Club, jumped into a 3 to 0 lead at the quarter, which faded to a 4 to 3 deficit at the half when Vera Cast connected for a pair of field goals for Pilgrim.

A 10-point storm in the third period just about drenched the hopes of Pilgrim adherents. Between them, Emerine Lindner with three field goals and Rose Uebel, with two, scored 10 points in the eight minutes, which was one more than Pilgrim tallied throughout the contest.

Pilgrim missed connections in the last quarter on shots that rimmed the basket and the constant threat kept alive the hopes of the team's rooters, but the only points recorded were on a free throw by Miss Tiffany and a field goal by Vera Cast.

Few Free Throws Scored.

By way of comment, free-throw shooting is not the strong point in girls' games. Emmaus missed 10 free throws, St. Joseph six, Pilgrim five and St. Thomas nine.

Ann Bialik of St. Joseph carried off high-scoring honors for the girls with five field goals. Those who scored six points, the next highest, were Melba Nagel, Emmaus; Emerine Lindner, St. Thomas, and Vera Cast, Pilgrim.

St. Thomas has been playing together as a team for years, formerly being connected with the Greater St. Louis Girls' Basketball Association. Their coach is Al Pezolt, St. Louis University football letterman.

The championship game between St. Joseph and St. Thomas will be played along with finals in the men's and boys' divisions at Washington University Field House tomorrow night.

Men and Boys in Semifinals.

Semifinals in the men's and boys' divisions are scheduled tonight with two games each at St. Louis U. gymnasium and Washington Field House.

Semifinalists in the Boys' Division are St. Francis Xavier, Pilgrim Evangelical Lutheran, Emmaus Evangelical Lutheran and Visitation. In the Men's Division, survivors are Zion, Holy Family, Bethesda, All Saints, and Our Redeemer.

A special meeting of the Tournament Committee will be held tonight to act upon such matters as may properly come before it.

There is no admission charge either to semifinal games tonight or to the finals tomorrow night. About 2000 witnessed last night's games.

Y. M. H. A. HANDBALL ENTERS FINAL ROUND.

The final round has been reached in the Y. M. H. A. doubles handball tournament, and will be played tomorrow night.

Semifinal matches were played last night. In the championship straight, Maury Dreyfus and Sam Hitt defeated Morris Wexler and Louis Corbin, 21-19, 10-21, 21-18, and Bill Litten and Al Tolson won from Harry Fadon and Ben Tobin, 21-28, 21-18.

Class A semifinal results: Oscar Klayman and Julius Kantor trounced George Solomon and Joe Diamond, 18-21, 21-18, 21-12, and Sam Linder and Max Rosenbaum eliminated Chester Sakowski and Frank Kalish, 21-11, 19-21, 21-20.

UMPIRE REARDON IN HOSPITAL, SUFFERING FROM JAW INFECTION

By the Associated Press
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 21.—John (Beau) Reardon, National League umpire, was taken to the St. Vincent's Hospital here yesterday with an infection in his jaw.

An X-ray examination failed to disclose the source of the trouble. Physicians said his condition is not critical.

The St. Thomas Aquinas church basketball team attacking in a semifinal of the Post-Dispatch tournament. The defending team is the Pilgrim Evangelical Lutheran five. The Aquinas won, 13 to 9, in a game featured by strong defense.

The game with Jennings will complete the season for Brentwood, but Jennings will play Hancock the following week.

Geno Villian and Ken Lyvers scored 12 and 10 points respectively to lead the scorers for the eventual Jennings win. The first half, Fairview holding 4-3 lead after the half was over, in the last half, Jennings held Fairview to one point while scoring three.

COCHRAN UPSETS BOZEMAN; HALL SETS HIGH-RUN MARK FOR MEET

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK, N. Y., Feb. 21.—With only four games remaining, five players had designs today on the world's three-cushion billiard championship now held by Welker Cochran of San Francisco.

One of the quintet and a favorite was Cochran himself. The others were J. N. Bozeman Jr., 27-year-old Vallejo, Cal., star; Johnny Layton, the florid veteran of Sedalia, Mo., who has held the crown 10 times; Allen Hall of Chicago, and Willie Hoppe, the former balkline king bidding for the only title he has never held.

At the top of the heap were Cochran, Bozeman and Layton, each of whom has won seven games in nine matches. Close behind, hopeful of knocking off the leaders was Hoppe, winner of six of his nine starts. For Hall it was just a matter of watching waiting as he has completed his schedule with a record of eight triumphs and three losses.

Cochran Defeats Bozeman.

Cochran propelled himself back into running last night by overwhelming the youthful Bozeman, 50 to 23 in 46 innings, with a brilliant exhibition of shot making. And just to make the race more complicated, Hall, already conqueror of Bozeman and Cochran, knocked off Layton in an upset, 50 to 30.

Today's games: Afternoon—Bozeman vs. Layton. Evening—Cochran vs. Hoppe.

Cochran, with a large repertoire of balkline strokes at his command, jumped to the front in his match against Bozeman with a high run of seven in the second inning and never was headed. Cochran, with beautiful control, failed to score in only 22 innings. From his auspicious start he gradually gained momentum, leaving his less experienced foe behind. As a climax to his brilliant attack, the defending champion assembled another cluster of even in the fortieth inning.

Bozeman had two strikes on him before he went into the game and never was able to show the brilliant shot-making that has made him the sensation of the championship. He has met Cochran many times in friendly matches on the coast and so few and far between were his triumphs that he said before the tournament that he did not see how anybody could beat the defending champion, when the latter was in stroke.

Hall Sets High Run Mark.

Establishing a high run record of 14 for the tournament, Hall, the pupil, gave his teacher, Layton, a lesson in billiards.

Hall played consistently from the start, but his greatest display came in the thirty-seventh when, with a run of 14, to beat Cochran's high run mark by one billiard. The third game, however, saw Hall drop to 48 and the two remaining points in the thirty-eighth for his best game of the championship.

The husky Chicagoan's fine exhibition was not confined to one inning, however. He opened the game with a run of nine, and counted seven times in the thirty-fifth for a total of 30 points in the three innings.

The balls were rolling almost perfectly for the Chicago star in his big inning. At least 10 of the 14 shots were naturals, while the others were comparatively easy. He only missed the fifteenth point by a whisker. In contrast, the Missouri red-head was confronted with many difficult lies. He was never able to assemble more than four points in any one inning.

Riesel and Thurnblad Win.

Two players completed their tournament schedule with Otto Riesel, Philadelphia, defeating Alfredo de Oro, 71-year-old Cuban from New York, 50 to 29 in 42 innings. The defeat left Kleckhefer, also of Chicago, 50 to 29 in 50 innings. The team won seven cup battles, while this season, the eleven has been turned the winner in its three contests.

Hamas Agrees to Oppose Baer in Fight on Coast

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 21.—Negotiations for an outdoor 10-round bout here in mid-April between Max Baer, California heavyweight contender, and Steve Hamas, past N. J. conqueror of Max Schmeling, neared completion today, promoters announced.

The promoters said that Hamas, through his manager, Charles Harvey, in New York, last night had agreed to the match. Harvey said he had declined an offer from New York's Madison Square Garden for Hamas to meet the winner of the King Levinsky-Walter Neusel fight.

Baer and his manager, Al Hoffman, were expected to agree to terms for the proposed match with Hamas.

Burroughs Five Wins.

The John Burroughs A basketball team won its second consecutive victory over the Chaminade A team, 20 to 18, yesterday afternoon. Play was close with neither team being more than three points in the lead at one time. In the last three minutes of play the Burroughs defense staved off defeat as the Chaminade tried to score on numerous long shots. Jim Taylor led in scoring with nine points.

NATIONAL CHAMPION STIX CLUB HAS WON 41 AND LOST BUT FIVE GAMES IN TWO SEASONS OF COMPETITION

By Herman Wecke.

Records indicate that the Stix, Baer & Fuller club, present holder of the national championship, is one of the best, if not the best, ever to represent St. Louis in soccer competition.

In the two campaigns Alex McLean, with a large repertoire of balkline strokes at his command, jumped to the front in his match against Bozeman with a high run of seven in the second inning and never was headed. Cochran, with beautiful control, failed to score in only 22 innings. From his auspicious start he gradually gained momentum, leaving his less experienced opponent far behind. ## NOT ONE ARREST FOR DOPING ON TRACKS RUN BY THE JOCKEY CLUB

—William Woodward

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—William E. Woodward, chairman of the Jockey Club, last night fired the club's first broadside in the controversy stirred by Senator John J. Dunnigan's criticism of horse racing as it is conducted under Jockey Club jurisdiction in this State.

Woodward replied on behalf of the Jockey Club to what he termed Senator Dunnigan's "violent and abusive" attack in the State Senate at Albany last night.

To the Senator's charge that the real reason for lack of support of racing is "the management and inattention of the officers of the Jockey Club," Woodward declared he never has been "associated with a body of officers who give more faithful and detailed service to their duties than the members of the Jockey Club."

"The true reason," his statement said, "for the lack of support are the country-wide depression coupled with an unsatisfactory form of betting, whereby the average man is handicapped in doing what he wishes to do, namely, bet."

The Senator refers to the use of narcotics. This is an evil which the public knows has existed for many years. The Jockey Club has steadily, actively and with determination endeavored to eradicate this evil. It rejoices that the Narcotics Bureau is active in this matter; and the Jockey Club has for a long time worked harmoniously with and persistently aided the bureau officials in their work. The use of drugs in stimulating horses is forbidden and for that act the Jockey Club punishes by expulsion from the turf. This policy will be drastically continued.

The Senator asserts that more than 100 of the owners and trainers have pleaded guilty to doping horses. If this be true it may interest them to know that there has not been one arrest by the bureau for practices of this nature on tracks under jurisdiction of the Jockey Club.

Senator Dunnigan, in refusing to accept the report of the State Racing Commission, declared it was misleading as to racing conditions. He said a disclosure of the names of men known to be involved in doping is needed to restore confidence in the sport. The Racing Commission report said the sport needed legalized betting to restore it to its feet.

SEMI-FINALS TONIGHT IN "Y" INDUSTRIAL BASKETBALL LEAGUE

The Baker Shoe aggregation has nine consecutive victories to its credit. Rawlings has won seven and lost two, but has the high score man of the league, Marvin Coffel, who has looped in 159 points this season. McQuay-Norris and Penney have each won seven and lost two. A Busy Year Ending.

Free Press Still Waves.

Good Years Predicted.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(Copyright, 1934.)
YOU are less than two weeks from the end of Franklin D. Roosevelt's first year as President of the United States. Did you, in all your life, ever know such a busy year?

The King of the Belgians who climbed mountains because Kings in these days have little of the old kingly executive excitement left, took hold of a rock loosened by the frost and rain, fell up, fell and was killed. His sons sorrowfully walk behind their father's coffin, his widow murmurs, over and over "Tout est fin." "All is finished." The older son takes his father's place and all is finished.

It may be true as Mussolini, Hitler and Kemal agree, that human beings, in their republics and democracies, have shown inability to govern themselves. But Government by kings has failed also. Whether a King lives or dies makes little difference except that sometimes the change from one King to another may excite Communists and other "reds," causing unpleasant demonstrations.

France, needing Belgium as a buffer state, so useful in delaying the Germans in the big war, worries a little about Belgian Communists. Otherwise the death of the good-natured, friendly Belgian King means nothing.

The President, telling newspapermen what he wants done about hours and days of work and wages, says liberty of the press is to go right ahead, but does not think there is any more reason to raise that question than there would have been to ask whether the Ten Commandments would continue to operate under NRA.

Some little editors, struggling to keep alive, might suggest that telling them what they must do in their own plants, with their own machinery and money, might be considered the beginning of interfering with liberty of the press.

Government newspaper regulation will not affect little editors seriously but in nine cities, with 750,000 population or more, newspapers with 75,000 circulation or more will be expected to work their men only five days a week and not more than 40 hours in the five days. That can't always be done unless reporting is revised, for many "assignments" require more than eight hours, some as much as 24 hours.

The new regulations would interest Benjamin Franklin, who was in the newspaper business, and Bennett, Pulitzer and Dana, also John Bogart, and "Boss" Clark of the ancient days. Their idea was to send a reporter out and let him stay out until he got what he was sent to get. If he had returned expecting to quit at the end of 8 hours, waving a blue eagle or an NRA sign, he would have been told to go to work for NRA. But conditions have changed, with rapid transportation, and telephones, since the days when it took almost as long to go from the city hall to the Bronx as it does now to go from New York airport to Miami.

Mr. Richard H. Grant, who understands business, having distributed many hundreds of millions of valuable merchandise, believes that "America is due for three or four years of prosperity, induced by the stimulus of Government spending." At the end of the three or four years of prosperity, more or less artificially proved, Mr. Grant thinks "the natural world recovery will come itself, and I think we will be well under way when Government spending stops."

Nine out of 10 business men feel as Mr. Grant feels, but they all know that when you change a patient from strong medicines, and stimulants to drive the heart, morphine to deaden pain, etc., you must do it carefully.

The change from Uncle Sam's money to money "that you earn yourself" will have its difficulties.

Edward Lasker, chess expert, defeats an able opponent, playing "blind," never seeing the board or his pieces on it. He is told about moves as they are made, and carrying all of the men and their position in his mind, directs his own moves and wins.

Most men who play chess so wonderfully do nothing else of importance, but the late Joseph Pulitzer was an exception. He could play several games without seeing the board, and once crossing the ocean, after his sight was nearly gone, he walked up and down talking to another chess expert, and as he passed directed his own moves and wins.

Lack of Attention on Part Of Husband's Relatives Is Poor Reason for Separation

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Mrs. Carr:

HAVE two nice children and a good husband. He does not earn much, but I help by working 60 days a week.

Now, Mrs. Carr, his mother is healthy and lives a few doors away. She hasn't dropped in to see how we are getting along and never comes to see the children. My husband and also has four married sisters living in the neighborhood who are healthy, and they do not come. Nor have I said anything to keep them away. The only thing I can see is, that you may not want to hear how badly we are off for clothes, especially the children, and do not want to come because they see this.

When I speak to my husband about it, he says, "I do not know whether I should go on living like this or leave my husband and take the children. I can live with my husband and work and get along. I think my husband ought to correct his condition." MRS. E. H.

Has it occurred to you that perhaps your husband has talked to me only so far, but cannot compel him to come? He may have a thorough understanding of their son, and while not approving their attitude, does not wish to hurt your feelings by explaining they are the kind who, rather than be obliged to help in trouble, turn away from the sight. It would have been easier, by presenting not to know. Likely, though there is another reason, which only they could know. But I must tell you that in considering the breaking up of your home for the fancied right, you are indulging an unscrupulous pique and resentment. Your son is, or should be with your husband and children; what happens outside of that is of minor importance. You do not have to tell your husband anything; let it pass and do not encourage them in discussing it, especially on account of your husband; who is their father.

Answer: Naturally I am more pleased with your letter than I can say, and it may interest you that I have had more than 100 approving letters from the younger generation, but yours is the only one that speaks for a group.

GIRL IN THE FAMILY

—By BEATRICE BURTON

CHAPTER THREE.

"H, I WANT you to want to take care of me. Anything to please a gentleman!" Susan answered airily. But under her lightness ran the sudden thought that Wallace really would take care of a woman if he loved her. His wife would be able to lay all her burdens on his broad shoulders, knowing that he would bear them. There would never be any shameful scenes for her, such as the scene in Mr. Dillon's dreadful little green-carpeted cage that afternoon. Wallace's wife's charge account would be paid up on the tenth of every month. She would have the dignity and the peace that a full pocketbook brings with it.

"Any gentleman, or just me, Susan?" he asked her as the car rolled out into the roar and light and movement of Fifth street and took its place in a long line of automobiles that trailed out behind a trolley car like the tail of a comet.

"Just you, Wallace. Nobody but you."

For a year and a half she had done everything she could do to please and attract him. She had made a business of it, almost; learning to play bridge with him, doing her best to be interested in things he told her about the bank. Things about second mortgages and real estate values and properties in general. Grooming herself with great care every Tuesday and Friday and Sunday nights for his eyes, walking around the Country Club golf course with him on occasional Saturday afternoons to watch him play, going to the moving pictures to see "westerns" with him when the only kind of picture she really liked was a love story done in luxurious settings.

But that, according to her Aunt Edna Broderick, was a girl's great job in life. To attract the man she wanted and turn him into marriage. Only Aunt Edna had never used so ordinary a word as "job." She said "duty." "Indeed," she added, "it's your highest duty, Susan, is to marry the man of her choice." Susan could almost hear her saying it now above the singing sound of Wallace's automobile tires on the snowy pavement.

Under the Scotch plaid robe his right hand found her left one and held it. "You do like me a little bit, don't you, Susan?" he asked.

"Of course, I do." She smiled at him sideways, a smile that said that she liked him a great deal.

"More than just a little bit."

They had left the tall downtown buildings behind them and were in a smaller, more intimate and neighborhood store. At a corner where a little stone church stood, its lighted windows cutting golden rectangles into the darkness, he stopped suddenly and turned off the engine of the car.

He turned in his seat to look at her. "Just how much, Susan?" he asked, and before she had time to answer, he took her in his arms and fastened his mouth on hers. He smelled pleasantly of cleanliness and tobacco and shaving lotion, and the sleeves of his Oxford gray overcoat were as warm as the arms of a big overstuffed chair as he held her. She leaned back in them with a great feeling of security and comfort. How solid he was, how reliable, how safe!

"USAN, I'm crazy about you!" His voice, murmur into her ear, had a tense trembling quality that made it sound utterly unlike Wallace's ordinary voice, which was deep and quiet. "I'm going to marry you, dearest"—then suddenly he straightened again from her as a sudden thought struck him.

"You want me to, don't you? You really do care for me a little, don't you, Susan?" You're sure of yourself."

Susan laughed at the sudden anxiety in his voice.

"Why, Wallace, you know that I never even see any man but you," she said. "I've never cared the least bit for anyone else."

She might have added that he was the only man she had ever known well, with the exception of the men in her own family. Long ago there had been boys who had danced with her at class parties and asked if they might come to see her, but her father and the rest of the family had put their foot down and said, no, she was far too young to have young men callers. Particularly the kind of young men who came to the North Side High School from the little middle-class homes it surrounded fit for blocks.

"You'll meet young fellows of your own class later on," her father had told her.

"Men who are in your own walk of life," Aunt Edna had added. "The sons of our friends. The right kind of young men."

And when she was 19 Susan had fulfilled their prophecy by meeting Wallace Steffen who was certainly

Planked White Fish Is a Good Dinner Dish for Days of Lent

By GLADYS T. LONG

The menu:

Cream of Chestnut Soup
Planked White Fish
Cucumber Salad with Mustard
French Dressing
Strawberry Ice Cream Pie

The recipes:

Cream of Chestnut Soup.

Simmer one quart of peeled chestnuts in two quarts of chicken broth or water until the chestnuts are tender. Drain and rub through a sieve into the chicken stock and season with salt, nutmeg and cayenne to taste. Place in a double boiler and stir constantly, adding a pint of hot rich cream, into which is added one tablespoonful of flour and two of butter which have been melted together. Blend and cook five minutes and just before serving beat well with egg beater.

Planked White Fish.

Clean and bone a white fish weighing about four pounds. Season with salt and pepper and rub the entire fish with melted butter. Butter an oak plank which would be one inch thick and heat in oven for five minutes. Place fish on buttered plank and, to keep the plank from burning, cover space around fish with salt. Bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes. When done, brush off salt. Pipe mashed potatoes with a pastry tube around border and fill in space between fish and potatoes. Remove from oven, garnish with parsley and onion slices and serve from plank. If you have no plank, heat a flat Pyrex dish and prepare in the same way.

Baked Tomatoes With Creamed Mushrooms.

Scoop out centers from desired number of tomatoes and season well with salt and pepper. Fill with creamed mushrooms and bake until tomatoes are tender. Have your cream sauce quite thick.

Cucumber Salad With Mustard French Dressing.

Peel and slice cucumbers. Salt well, and place in a bowl with ice for several hours. Squeeze dry. Make a French dressing, using one part vinegar, three parts olive oil, salt and pepper to taste and about a teaspoonful of dry mustard. Shake well. Rub the inside of the salad bowl with a cut clove of garlic, then mix the salad and dressing well before serving.

Strawberry Ice Cream Pie.

Dough. One and one-fourth cups of sifted flour.

One whole egg.

One-fourth cup of ice water.

One-half teaspoon of salt.

One-half teaspoon of vinegar.

One-fourth cup of sugar.

Vanilla extract, one cup of lard.

Sift flour, salt and sugar. Beat the egg light and add ice water and vinegar. Cut one-half of the lard into the sifted dry ingredients until fine, reserving the remaining lard. Add the egg, water and vinegar and work to a stiff dough. Roll out, spread with one-half of the remaining lard, fold and refold four times. Roll again, sprinkle with a little flour each time you roll and spread with the remaining lard.

The rolling process and set on ice for two or three hours. Roll again and cover outside of pie pan with dough. Prick with a fork and bake in a medium oven for 28 minutes or to a light brown. When cool remove shell.

Strawberry Ice Cream.

Mash one quart of ripe strawberries and cover with one and a half cups of sugar, a pinch of salt, and the juice from one lemon. Let stand for one hour stirring occasionally until sugar is dissolved. Mix well and add a pint of heavy cream and freeze hard.

Make a fluffy meringue of two cups of sugar, two-thirds cup of hot water, three-fourths of a teaspoon of cream of tartar, the whites of two eggs and a pinch of salt. Put all together in a double boiler and beat constantly until whites stand firm, which will take from seven to 10 minutes. Stir in a teaspoon of vanilla and set in ice box to cool.

Place pastry shell on a baking sheet and carefully and evenly, so as not to break the shell, fill with the ice cream. Cover with the meringue, about an inch thick, and place under a hot flame, just long enough to lightly brown the meringue. Remove carefully to platter and serve at once.

Willy Nilly Hears What Has Become Of His Automobile

By Mary Graham Bonner

"QUACK, quack," quacked Mrs. Quacko, "it would be dreadful to think that your automobile Two-Ways was now nothing more than junk."

Willy Nilly had gone over to the hollow and was examining the old useless car that was there.

"No, it's not mine!" he explained. "It's quite a different kind of a car, or rather, I should say that it's not mine. I could never find it myself. It's certainly junk and I would have hated to feel that this was all that was left of Two-Ways."

"Oh, Mrs. Quacko, this makes me very happy."

"Yes, quack, quack," Mrs. Quacko agreed, "but still you haven't found your own car."

"That's true," Willy Nilly said sadly.

Just then a group of children came along, shouting and singing. "Hello," called Willy Nilly. "Have any of you seen my automobile Two-Ways?" Its name is on the front and I had to leave it here in a move over two months ago."

"Sure, we've seen it," said one of the children. "We play hide and seek with it. Daddy towed it back to our farm and we call the back seat the stairs part of the house and the front seat the living room and dining room, and the engine we call the kitchen."

"Oh, take me to it," said Willy Nilly. "It belongs to me and I've been looking everywhere for it."

"It belongs to us now," the same child spoke again. "Daddy said so. How was Willy Nilly to get it away?

Ann Dvorak, the movie lady, called from the coast. . . . To assure you the story about finding her father after 14 years was not phoney—and that your informant was the one who made you look like a dope, not she. . . . The rest of the story was true, however—he really hadn't seen him or known his whereabouts for that many years. . . . I told her I'd tell you. She is also grateful to the press which helped locate him for her.

ARMY AVIATOR KILLED IN CRASH OF MAIL PLANE

Lieut. D. O. Lowry Loses Life in Ohio—Tries to Jump but Parachute Cord Catches and Traps Him.

THROWS OUT SACKS BEFORE HE FALLS

Ship Noses Into Bank of Creek in Snow Storm as Pilot Seeks Landing Place.

By the Associated Press.
DESHLER, O., Feb. 22.—An army mail flyer, identified as Lieut. D. O. Lowry, crashed at 6 a. m. today in the woods on a farm owned by Alon Thurston, and was killed.

The army man threw several sacks of mail from the plane before the crash. The mail was found some distance from the woods by Alon Baumberger.

The plane left Chicago at 3 a. m. bound for Cleveland. The crash occurred when snow was falling and visibility was poor.

The plane nosed into the bank of creek in the woods and was wrecked. Deshler was about 50 miles south of Toledo.

Lieut. Lowry's home was in Milwaukee. He was formerly stationed at Selfridge Field, Mich.

The crash was the first serious accident since the army started carrying the mail Monday. There have been minor mishaps, as pilot "bailing out" near Mansfield, O., and making a safe descent in a parachute.

In Southern Ohio another army pilot's plane nosed into a forest landing.

Lieut. Lowry's body was found. He apparently had attempted to jump out in the parachute cord I believed he caught in a part of the plane had trapped him.

The plane struck the ground, went forward some distance due to its momentum, and then nosed into the bank of a creek in the woods. The plane was demolished. The plane did not hit trees.

Residents of the vicinity said Lowry apparently had trouble with his motor and had circled the vicinity in a search for a landing place.

Charles G. Thurston said he heard the plane pass over his farm home shortly before 6 a. m. Then the motor was cut off. He said he opened a window and then heard the crash. Thurston telephoned to the Napoleon Airport and then went out and found the body and wreckage.

Putting off the ignition probably saved the wreckage from being destroyed by flames.

Lieut. Schlatner, flying the mail from Cleveland to Chicago, was forced by unfavorable weather to land at the Goschen (Ind.) Airport, and the mail was forwarded to Chicago by train.

Another Flyer Dies When Radio Falls; No Body Hurt.

By the Associated Press.
UNIONTON, Pa., Feb. 22.—Fog and radio failure sent an Army airplane crashing into trees on mountainside today but the pilot, Lieut. Charles P. Hollstein, was not badly hurt.

Lost in a fog that covered the entire Western Alleghenies, Hollstein and himself more than 50 miles from his course and too near the trees to escape a crash.

Hollstein said failure of his radio was the immediate cause.

Climbing out of his wrecked plane, the flyer walked four miles through underbrush to call for help.

Despite cuts and bruises received in the crash, he walked back to pick up the mail.

"Just as I was coming into Pittsburgh," Hollstein said, "something went wrong with my radio, and in attempting to repair it, I temporarily got off the course. It was about dark when I thought I was near Unionton. I was just preparing to circle back to what I thought was Pittsburgh, and as I turned over the side, treetops loomed in front of me."

"Before I knew it, one wing was ripped, and then I took a nose dive. I was stunned for a few seconds by the crash, but the trees apparently impeded the fall. Fortunately I turned off the ignition."

By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, Feb. 22.—From a newspaper headline read over the shoulder of a fellow bus passenger, Lieut. Durward O. Lowry's mother today learned that her son
